Listening To Old Woman Speak Listening To Old Woman Speak:

Listening to Old Woman Speak Laura Smyth Groening, 2004 While Canadian First Nations writers have long argued that non Native authors should stop appropriating Native voices many non Native writers have held that such a request constitutes censorship Listening to Old Woman Speak provides the historical context missing from this debate Laura Groening examines issues of gender and genre historical fiction and historical metafiction and postcolonial theory to provide compelling evidence that it is virtually impossible to escape one's own cultural conditioning She concludes by listening to what First Nations writers have to say about cultural identity and the need to establish a healing aesthetic My Healing

Journey Darla Fisher-Odjig, 2009-09-11 For as long as I can remember I have wanted to help people In actuality it is in my nature to want to give and is one factor of my lineage I cherish being brought up in a responsible home whereby you work hard for what you want was a valued quality instilled by my parents as was the drive to accomplish and succeed For the summers I would go to my reserve Wikwemikong on Manitoulin Island and participate in the pow wow My connection with my people there had a very strong influence in regards to my love and empathy for them and thus for myself The culture and the beautiful sense of connectedness with them the Creator and mother earth gave me strength I've grown and seen much and experienced also the same things as my people such as the forced influential plight for assimilation and the splitting of two worlds leaving a sense of displacement and lost identity I believe this close relationship with my roots and the love of my people will only fuel hope in helping them and others experiencing trauma and the intergenerational affects it has caused toward a fusion of two worlds and peace within Catching the Torch Neta Gordon, 2014-03-25

Catching the Torch examines contemporary novels and plays written about Canada's participation in World War I Exploring such works as Jane Urquhart's The Underpainter and The Stone Carvers Jack Hodgins's Broken Ground Kevin Kerr's Unity 1918 Stephen Massicotte's Mary's Wedding and Frances Itani's Deafening the book considers how writers have dealt with the compelling myth that the Canadian nation was born in the trenches of the Great War In contrast to British and European remembrances of WWI which tend to regard it as a cataclysmic destroyer of innocence or Australian myths that promote an ideal of outsize masculinity physical bravery and white superiority contemporary Canadian texts conjure up notions of distinctively Canadian values tolerance of ethnic difference the ability to do one's duty without complaint or arrogance and the inclination to show moral as well as physical courage Paradoxically Canadians are shown to decry the horrors of war while making use of its productive cultural effects Through a close analysis of the way sacrifice service and the commemoration of war are represented in these literary works Catching the Torch argues that iterations of a secure mythic notion of national identity one that is articulated via the representation of straightforward civic and military participation work to counter current anxieties about the stability of the nation state in particular anxieties about the failure of the ideal of a national character

When the Other is Me Emma LaRocque, 2011-03-10 In this long awaited book from one of the most recognized and respected scholars in Native Studies today Emma LaRocque presents a powerful interdisciplinary study of the Native literary response to racist writing in the Canadian historical and literary record from 1850 to 1990 In When the Other is Me LaRocque brings a metacritical approach to Native writing situating it as resistance literature within and outside the postcolonial intellectual context She outlines the overwhelming evidence of dehumanization in Canadian historical and literary writing its effects on both popular culture and Canadian intellectual development and Native and non Native intellectual responses to it in light of the interlayered mix of romanticism exaggeration of Native difference and the continuing problem of internalization that challenges our understanding of the colonizer colonized relationship Writing in Dust Jenny Kerber,2011-03-17 Writing in Dust is the first sustained study of prairie Canadian literature from an ecocritical perspective Drawing on recent scholarship in environmental theory and criticism Jenny Kerber considers the ways in which prairie writers have negotiated processes of ecological and cultural change in the region from the early twentieth century to the present The book begins by proposing that current environmental problems in the prairie region can be understood by examining the longstanding tendency to describe its diverse terrain in dualistic terms either as an idyllic natural space or as an irredeemable wasteland It inquires into the sources of stories that naturalize ecological prosperity and hardship and investigates how such narratives have been deployed from the period of colonial settlement to the present It then considers the ways in which works by both canonical and more recent writers ranging from Robert Stead W O Mitchell and Margaret Laurence to Tim Lilburn Louise Halfe and Thomas King consistently challenge these dualistic landscape myths proposing alternatives for the development of more ecologically just and sustainable relationships among people and between humans and their physical environments Writing in Dust asserts that reading environmentally can help us to better understand a host of issues facing prairie inhabitants today including the environmental impacts of industrial agriculture resource extraction climate change shifting urban rural demographics the significance of Indigenous understandings of human nature relationships and the complex often contradictory meanings of eco cultural metaphors of alien invasiveness hybridity and wildness The Heathen Woman's Friend ,1878 Twentieth Century Drama Simon Trussler,1983-04-01

A compendium of information on all the main events individuals political groupings and issues of the 20th century It provides a guide to current thinking on important historical topics and personalities within the period and offers a guide to further reading Listen to Ngarrindjeri Women Speaking Diane Bell,2008

When the Ngarrindjeri women of South Australia asked Diane Bell if she would work with them in the running of some workshops to develop a booklet about culture and governance none of them realised quite where it would take them Chinese Women Writers on the Environment Dong Isbister,Xiumei Pu,Stephen D. Rachman,2020-09-14 The stories prose and poems in this anthology offer readers a unique and generous array of women s experiences in China In a world that is rapidly modernizing these writings attempt to reconcile with the ever changing people plants beasts and environment After five years of painstaking collection and translation the authors present these stories of strength and sadness defiance and resilience urban and village life from the days of the cultural revolution to the present Whether a house full of hawks and eagles a stubborn cow or a defiant elderly couple sabotaging a lumber operation these stories express powerful visions of the earth interwoven with human memory My Friends Call Me Carol Carol Morgan,2000 How to Get Your Husband to Listen to You Nancy Cobb,Connie Grigsby,2008-01-15 You talk for thirty minutes telling him every detail of your day He has three great ideas for how to fix your problems Why can t you just listen to me you ask You pull back he gives up and your marriage suffers The problem He s a man And you expect a girlfriend You could play the blame game Or dish out the cold treatment Or find a better way Many women feel their husbands don t listen the way they should How to Get Your Husband to Listen to You is not about how to change a man s God given way of thinking but about how to initiate healthy communication and enjoy the blessing of a husband who wants to listen Discover specific ways to Help your husband value what you say and how you say it Understand what your husband really wants and it might not be what you think Rebuild love and respect in your marriage Become a wife whose husband wants her insights Strengthen communication in marriage through your communication with God Give your husband the desire to listen to your needs your words and your heart Apache Odyssey Chris,Morris Edward Opler,2002-01-01 In 1933 famed anthropologist Morris Opler met a Mescalero Apache he called Chris and worked with him to record the man s life story from the bloody Apache Wars into the reservation years of the mid twentieth century Chris s vivid recollections are enriched at strategic moments with crucial background information on Apache history and culture supplied by Opler Chris was born around 1880 the son of a Chiricahua man and a Mescalero woman At the age of six he and his family and other Chiricahua Apaches became prisoners of war and were relocated by the U S government to Florida and Alabama Eventually settling on the Mescalero Apache reservation in New Mexico Chris grew up expecting to become a shaman like his parents Although Chris apprenticed as a shaman his confidence in his healing ability waned after he was forced at the age of seventeen to attend federal government schools Nonetheless his interest in Mescalero religion healing and other traditional customs and beliefs remained and that intimate knowledge of his people s world underscores and deepens the story of his own life Feminine Registers Jennifer E. Copeland,2014-10-16 Women have been adding their voices to the proclamation of the gospel for as long as there has been a gospel to proclaim but only in the last half century have these voices become part of the official catalogue of Christian preaching Diagnosing the distinctiveness of women s voices and exploring the richness they convey about the presence of God requires a detailed look at the meaning making strategies used by those who preach and those who listen Register provides a tool for analyzing not only the theological and semantic contributions of women but also demonstrates how gender impacts the meaning making possibilities of the sermon Feminine Registers offers a gendered analysis of preaching that does not rely on essentialist claims about gender and moves the analysis of the preaching beyond sermon content to include the relational dynamics operating between the communicating parties and the medium used to communicate A critical examination of this constellation of meanings influenced by gender related issues of authority and self disclosure helps illuminate the production of meaning within the church and expands the homiletical possibilities for the Christian faith

World Light Halldor Laxness, 2007-12-18 A magnificently humane novel from the acclaimed Icelandic Nobel Prize winner as an unloved foster child on a farm in rural Iceland Olaf Karason has only one consolation the belief that one day he will be a great poet The indifference and contempt of most of the people around him only reinforces his sense of destiny for in Iceland poets are as likely to be scorned as they are to be revered Over the ensuing years Olaf comes to lead the paradigmatic poet s life of poverty loneliness ruinous love affairs and sexual scandal But he will never attain anything like greatness As imagined by Nobel Prize winner Halldor Laxness in this extraordinary novel what might be cruel farce achieves pathos and genuine exaltation For as Olaf s ambition drives him onward and into the orbits of an unstable spiritualist a shady entrepreneur and several susceptible women World Light demonstrates how the creative spirit can survive in even the most crushing environment and even the most unpromising human vessel
