Clinical Cultural Neuroscience Otto Pedraza, 2020 Clinical Cultural

Neuroscience aims to provide clinicians and researchers with an overview of contemporary topics relevant to the study of culture in psychology and neuroscience. While comprehensive volumes dedicated to cultural or cross cultural psychology, cultural neuropsychology and cultural neuroscience are readily available, the accumulated theoretical and empirical findings remain relatively sequestered within each of those academic subspecialties.

Psychological Evaluations for the Courts, Fourth Edition Gary B. Melton, John Petrila, Norman G. Poythress, Christopher Slobogin, Randy K. Otto, Douglas Mossman, Lois O. Condie, 2017-12-22. Tens of thousands of readers have relied on this leading text and practitioner reference, now revised and updated to understand the issues the legal system most commonly asks mental health professionals to address. Highly readable, the volume demystifies the forensic psychological assessment process and provides guidelines for participating effectively and ethically in legal proceedings. Presented are clinical and legal concepts and evidence-based assessment procedures pertaining to criminal and civil competencies, the insanity defense, and related doctrines: sentencing, civil commitment, personal injury claims, antidiscrimination laws, child custody, juvenile justice, and other justice-related areas. Case examples, exercises, and a glossary facilitate learning. 19 sample reports illustrate how to conduct and write up thorough, legally admissible evaluations. New to This Edition: Extensively revised to reflect important legal, empirical, and clinical developments; Increased attention to medical and neuroscientific research; New protocols relevant to competence risk assessment, child custody, and mental injury evaluations; Updates on insanity, sentencing, civil commitment, the Americans with Disabilities Act, Social Security, juvenile and family law, and the admissibility of expert testimony; Material on immigration law, including a sample report and international law; New and revised sample reports.

Psychotherapy and Counseling With Asian American Clients George K. Hong, MaryAnna Domokos-Cheng Ham, 2001. This book is a practical and comprehensive guide for clinicians, trainees, and students interested in developing their skills in providing psychotherapy and counseling to Asian American clients. The authors offer a cultural and social environmental framework which helps mental health professionals conceptualize issues facing Asian American clients, as well as strategies for addressing clinical concerns. This book discusses many frequently asked questions regarding clinical work with Asian Americans: cultural similarities and differences among various Asian American groups; clinical implications of immigration and refugee experiences; strategies for diagnostic assessments; ways to engage Asian American clients in treatment; application of individual, family, and group psychotherapy and counseling; culturally syntonetic service delivery models; and training and curriculum issues. Practical suggestions and case examples are offered throughout the book.

responsiveness and advocacy within educational settings Great Expectations Loyce Caruthers, Jennifer Friend, 2016-03-01 This book explores meaningful and effective use of student voice in urban school renewal efforts through strategies that include surveys interviews focus groups visual and video projects social media and student participation in governance Chapters provide a definition of student voice context for public schooling in the United States and introduce a framework for including student voice in school renewal processes Examples guide readers to implementation of the framework to include student voices in diverse educational settings Authentic voices of approximately 175 students interviewed by the authors express what it is that they really want from public schools and how pre K 12 educators can provide a structure for ongoing student participation in governance and the work of the school The existing literature explores student characteristics such as poverty cultural diversity and what the experts believe students need public schools to provide Within the research urban public schools and technical reform are often explored and examined separately from conversations about what students want from schools excluding opportunities for their voices and diverse perspectives to be heard Listening to students describe instances of bullying or teachers low academic expectations provides educators with opportunities to address issues that impede student learning The uniqueness of this framework for including student voice is that it provides multiple opportunities for students in any grade level to tell us what it is they want from public schools and to make meaningful and lasting contributions to school renewal efforts Minority and Cross-Cultural Aspects of Neuropsychological Assessment F. Richard Ferraro, 2015-07-16 Minority and cross cultural psychology is more relevant now than ever in our diverse world Given the dramatic local and global changes occurring daily with regard to demographics population changes and immigration issues minority and cross cultural psychology is fast becoming a respected and critical area of scientific study Pair that with the fact that people of all cultures and racial groups are living longer and experiencing age related diseases and disorders one can easily see the need for additional work on issues related to neuropsychological assessment This new edition brings to the forefront recent developments by seasoned experts in the field They offer up their newest projects in minority and cross cultural aspects of neuropsychological assessment and are joined by new up and coming professionals across a wide array of disciplines including psychology medicine and neuropsychology Like the first edition this updated collection sheds light on the ever growing need for adequate neuropsychological assessment to a wider subset of individuals crossing many cultural and minority barriers in the process Continuously pushing the boundaries of neuropsychological assessment this collection is essential reading for cognitive and clinical psychologists and neuropsychologists and a model text for advanced courses dealing with minority and cross cultural issues

Neuropsychology of Asians and Asian-Americans J. Mark Davis, Rik Carl D'Amato, 2013-08-19 Neuropsychology with Asians and Asian Americans Practical and Theoretical Considerations J Mark Davis and Rik Carl D Amato editors The challenge of cultural competence for health providers is more than the recognition of other ethnicities it entails the balancing of group and individual factors to apply relevant information in diagnostic and therapeutic settings. Particularly in need of culturally appropriate services are Asians and Asian Americans, populations that are diverse, growing, and underserved by Asian practitioners. Neuropsychology with Asians and Asian Americans takes cultural neuroscience to new levels in its variety and usefulness. Focusing on the largest groups of Far East and Southeast Asian descent, this leading edge reference examines the influence of culture on psychological processes and identifies sociocultural factors as they influence neurological aspects of client presentation. This expert coverage goes beyond well known constructs of collectivism and family orientation toward establishing an evidence base crucial to understanding, assessing, and treating Asian and Asian American clients, including linguistic factors and language assessment of Asians. Society and acculturation in Asian and Asian American communities. Mental illness from Asian and Asian American perspectives. Understanding cognitive differences across the lifespan, comparing Eastern and Western cultures. Clinical interviews and qualitative assessment with Asian clients. Neuropsychological test selection with Asian clients. Unique in its scope and detail, Neuropsychology with Asians and Asian Americans is a necessary resource for neuropsychologists and rehabilitation specialists as well as social workers and clinical counseling and school psychologists.

Handbook of Multicultural Perspectives on Stress and Coping Paul T. P. Wong, Lilian C. J. Wong, 2007-02-15. Has the developing world developed modern concepts of stress? Are coping methods the same around the globe? Such questions are not simple to answer and until recently few knew to ask them. In recent years, Western psychologists have recognized that their prevailing views of psychology do not always translate worldwide and that no culture has a monopoly on either stress or coping. The Handbook of Multicultural Perspectives on Stress and Coping was created to address this realization. This unique volume moves beyond simple comparisons of behaviors in other countries by clarifying critical concepts in stress and coping, analyzing and synthesizing vast amounts of global data, and identifying constructs and methodologies necessary for meaningful cross cultural research. An international multiethnic panel of forty five contributors presents elegant studies of stress, survival, and resilience as cultures evolve and countries interact, including personal transformation as a coping strategy, psychological skills that enhance intercultural adjustment, individual versus collectivist values in coping, Buddhist and Taoist traditions in coping, the cumulative effects of historical environmental and political stressors on nations in the Middle East, specific cross cultural perspectives from Latino American families to Canadian aboriginal peoples to minority university students. The editors have assembled a vital store of knowledge, raising crucial implications for clinicians working with immigrant international populations and evaluating the current state of theory, research, and assessment. The Handbook documents major steps toward scientific advancement and human understanding.
