Diggings Peter Netzel,2016-12-05 Keyes Lost Diggings by Peter Netzel is an account told through newspaper articles of an incredible discovery of gold by Chris Keyes in 1865 in The Little Rockies a mountain range in north central Montana The ending to the story of the Lost Keyes Diggings is as tragic as the find was fabulous To this day the location of the Keyes placer diggings is wrapped in profound mystery Chris Keyes was prospecting in the Red Water River region near the Bear s Paw Mountains when he came upon a bonanza of gold Unfortunately the location of his rich diggings was lost because Keyes was killed in a massacre by hostile Sioux in the same year that he found it 1865 The year prior in 1864 prospector Chris Keyes and his partner John Lepley had discovered the first gold in Lewis and Clark County on Silver Creek in Montana A modest strike they made six or seven dollars a day but Keyes became impatient and wanted to move on in search of something better He carried in his pocket three small nuggets of gold that he had picked up in the valleys of the Bear s Paw in 1862 while engaged in hunting for the American Fur Company at Fort Benton He was obsessed with the desire to prospect these mountains and had utmost faith in finding rich diggings there In February 1865 he shook hands with his partner and set out for what he believed was a glittering gold field But we will never know where the treasure was located because Keyes was massacred by the Sioux His secret died with him While profitable diggings were afterward discovered in the Bear s Paw there has been no such a find as was made by Keyes To this day the location of the Keyes placer diggings is wrapped in profound mystery The ending to the story of the Lost Keyes Diggings is as tragic as the find was fabulous If you look you can almost see the gold out there hidden somewhere in the Bear s Paw Mountains of north central Montana Gold John Richard Stephens,2014-06-03 The Gold Rush era was an amazing time in our country s history California had just been occupied during the Mexican American War and wasn t officially a U S territory yet when gold was discovered in 1848 Suddenly the whole world was electrified by the news and tales of men digging vast amounts of wealth out of the ground even finding gold nuggets just lying around Within five years 250 000 miners dug up more than 200 million in gold about 600 billion in today s dollars Gold offers a feel for what it was like to live through the heady days of the discovery and exploitation of gold in California in the mid 1800s through firsthand accounts short stories and tall tales written by the people who were there These eyewitness accounts offer an immediacy that brings the events to life Discovery Men Gary R. Forney,2009-02-01 The discovery of gold in the Alder Gulch of Montana in 1863 has been called the most notable event in any age of mining history The event is made even more extraordinary by the remarkable chain of events that brought together the men who made the initial discovery and their arduous journey Few of the thousands who came to this El Dorado were prepared for how the fabulous riches would shape history least of all the six discovery men Tragically most of them would learn that it could be more difficult to live with a fortune than to find one book jacket Gold Fever Produced Untold Riches F.
