Quintyn Ph.D., 2020-12-17 The specter of early twentieth century eugenics with its goal of preventing the unfit from reproducing through forced sterilization still haunts us in this era of genetic engineering Conrad B Quintyn an associate professor of biological anthropology at Bloomsburg University Bloomsburg Pennsylvania calls this the new eugenics era

because geneticists have begun to explore ways to prevent and repair defective genes in all humans In this book he considers whether genetic engineering will exacerbate social injustices and or lead to a public safety issue For instance in 2012 virologists in the U S and the Netherlands genetically engineered avian bird flu to be more transmissible between mammals These scientists argued that virus transmission between mammals enables us to make vaccines to prevent pandemics They never considered what would happen if the virus accidentally escaped the laboratory Meanwhile some scientists are experimenting with designer babies altering genes to remove diseases and even programming certain traits Join the author as he considers whether scientists are playing God as well as the risks we face by altering genetics in The New Eugenics
