 Ellison,2015-05-09 Based on a controversial opinion piece originally published in the New York Times Reclaiming Travel is a provocative meditation on the meaning of travel from ancient times to the twenty first century Ilan Stavans and Joshua Ellison seek to understand why we travel and what has come to be missing from our contemporary understanding of travel Engaging with canonical and contemporary texts they explore the differences between travel and tourism the relationship between travel and memory the genre of travel writing and the power of mapmaking Stavans and Ellison call for a rethinking of the art of travel which they define as a transformative quest that gives us deeper access to ourselves Tourism Stavans and Ellison argue is inauthentic choreographed sterile shallow and rooted in colonialism They critique theme parks and kitsch tourism such as the shantytown hotels in South Africa where guests stay in shacks made of corrugated metal and cardboard yet have plenty of food water and space Tourists they assert are merely content with escapism thrill seeking or obsessively snapping photographs Resisting simple moralizing the authors also remind us that people don t divide neatly into crude categories like travelers and tourists They provoke us to reflect on the opportunities and perils in our own habits In this powerful manifesto Stavans and Ellison argue that travel should be an art through which our restlessness finds expression a search for meaning not only in our own lives but also in the lives of others It is not about the destination rather travel is about loss disorientation and discovering our place in the universe Q News ,2001 A Life That Mattes: A Spiritual variations in its impact and management The economies in the Gulf Jordan Egypt Morocco Tunisia and Israel heavily reliant on global trade services and tourism suffered serious setbacks In contrast countries experiencing instability such as Iran Iraq
