History in English Words Owen Barfield, 2023-09-03 Excerpt If somebody showed us a document which he said was an unpublished letter of Dr Johnson's and on reading it through we came across the word telephone we should be fairly justified in sending him about his business The fact that there was no such thing as a telephone until many years after Johnson's death would leave no doubt whatever in our minds that the letter was not written by him If we cared to go farther we could say with equal certainty that the letter was written since the beginning of the nineteenth century when the telephone was invented Now suppose that there had been nothing about telephones in the letter but that it had contained an account of a thunder storm If in describing the stillness just before the storm broke the writer had said that the atmosphere was electric we could still be fairly positive that he was not Dr Johnson But this time it would not be because the thing of which the letter spoke had no existence in Johnson's day No doubt the heavens during a storm a hundred and fifty years ago were exactly as highly charged with electricity as they are to day but if we look up the word electric in the Oxford Dictionary we find that in Johnson's time it simply was not used in that way Thus in his own dictionary it is defined as A property in some bodies whereby when rubbed so as to grow warm they draw little bits of paper or such like substances to them
