Engineering Labour Peter Meiksins, Chris Smith, Boel Berner, 1996 Engineers often perceived as central agents of industrial capitalism are thought to be the same in all capitalist societies occupying roughly the same social status and performing similar functions in the capitalist enterprise What the essays in this volume reveal however is that engineers are trained and organized quite distinctly in different national contexts The book includes case studies of engineers in six major industrial economies Japan France Germany Sweden Britain and the United States Through a comparison of these six cases the authors develop an approach to national differences which both retains the place of historical diversity in the experience of capitalism and accommodates the forces of convergence from increasing globalisation and economic integration Contributions from Boel Berner Stephen Crawford Kees Gispén Kevin McCormick and Peter Whalley Delayed Project Terminations in the Venture Capital Context Dominik Steinkühler,2010 Venture capital plays an important role in the entrepreneurial process of providing financing and management support to young rapidly growing companies While venture capital investment success stories such as those of Microsoft Apple and Google are well known such home runs are rather rare Many investments provide little or no return so that accurately evaluating the prospects of portfolio companies and terminating further engagement in unsuccessful ventures in time is key to the overall portfolio performance of venture capital firms When venture capitalists act rationally it should be expected that investment terminations are neither systematically premature nor systematically delayed However recent studies have discovered a systematic tendency toward delayed project terminations of unsuccessful investments that cannot be reconciled with a model of rational decision making The present study examines such delayed project terminations in the venture capital industry and investigates whether escalation of commitment may provide an appropriate perspective on the phenomenon and contribute to its explanation The study develops a comprehensive theoretical framework that synthesizes and integrates several economically irrational drivers of project escalation A large scale survey among European venture capitalists provides the basis for the empirical analysis of the hypothesized relationships The analysis yields valuable new insights into the interaction of different escalation drivers which are much more intertwined than previously supposed by the literature and permits to suggest effective escalation countermeasures for practice The considerations and findings of the study are generalizable beyond the venture capital context to a wide variety of settings in which organizations routinely make sequential investment decisions Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress. Cataloging Policy and Support Office,1999 Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress,Library of Congress. Subject Cataloging Division,Library of Congress. corporate function that has a profound and direct impact on corporate environmental performance manufacturing and operations This area has been of concern in recent years to researchers and practitioners in fields ranging from the social and natural sciences to management and technical engineering The book reflects this diversity with global contributions on topics such as design for the environment total quality environmental management green supply chains reverse logistics environmental management systems and standards industrial ecology closed loop manufacturing life cycle management pollution prevention P2 environmental technologies and energy efficiency The aim and scope of Greener Manufacturing and Operations is to capture state of the art and future practices in environmental manufacturing and operations practices and issues in one concise volume The book is therefore a fluid mix of case studies empirical research and applied theoretical works incorporating both conceptual ideas whose time will come to practical applications which managers and practitioners can apply immediately Comprehensive in its coverage of the key issues contributions range from a focus on the internal operations of a single function within an organization to a consideration of industrial manufacturing practices from a macro economic level A number of levels of decision making are also represented from long term strategic issues such as supply chain design to traditional short term operations decision making and planning issues such as production planning Many of the principles developed and presented here can also be extended to the more general process management of service organizations The book is organized into four major sections operations strategy and policy manufacturing and operations practice tools for managing greener operations and manufacturing and finally case studies Greener Manufacturing and Operations will be an essential aid for managers engineers students researchers and consultants wishing to understand the various issues principles and tools for managing the operations and manufacturing function in a more environmentally benign and sustainable manner
