Resources in Education, 2001-04 Culturally Responsive Teaching for Infants and Toddlers Marie L.

Masterson, 2025 This book presents an expanded view of infant and toddler development to equip educators with the knowledge, dispositions and skills to create high quality settings and interactions so that every child can have the best start in life. Readers are encouraged to consider the perspective of the child: What does this classroom, this teacher and this experience look like and feel like to each child? How do teachers develop deeper understanding of development and learning in the context of children's families, cultures and lives and apply this knowledge to teaching decisions? Each chapter offers resources, research, teaching tips, activities to empower children and questions for reflection and discussion. This book addresses the need for cultural safety and coherence between families and programs, the need for rich language and learning opportunities throughout the day, strategies for observing children and using this information to design curriculum, individualized interactions to facilitate play-based learning and teaching strategies that strengthen each child's emerging skills and capabilities. Book Features: Shows how cultural beliefs, child-rearing practices and language are active prime movers in infant and toddler teaching decisions and must be made visible through reflective practice. Illustrates insightful and caring strategies for building authentic relationships with families to guide planning and decision making. Applies NAEYC's developmentally appropriate practice position statement 2020 to the complex challenges encountered by teachers working with infants and toddlers and their families. Reimagines teaching through the lens of collaboration and creative thinking, anchoring these as essential foundations of active play, outdoor and nature play and health and well-being. A Teaching Assistant's Guide to Child Development and Psychology in the Classroom Susan Bentham, 2025-06-16 How can you help students most effectively in the classroom? Southerland, 2007 Teaching Science to Every Child proposes a fresh perspective for teaching school science and draws upon an extensive body of classroom research to meaningfully address the achievement gap in science education Settlage and Southerland begin from the point of view that science can be thought of as a culture rather than as a fixed body of knowledge Throughout this book the idea of culture is used to illustrate how teachers can guide all students to be successful in science while still being respectful of students ethnic heritages and cultural traditions By combining a cultural view of science with instructional approaches shown to be effective in a variety of settings the authors provide elementary and middle school teachers with a conceptual framework as well as pedagogical approaches which support the science learning of a diverse array of students United States Code, 2006, V. 4, Title 8,
