The New White Race Charlotte Ann Legg,2021-06

The New White Race traces the development of the press in Algeria between 1860 and 1914 examining the particular role of journalists in shaping the power dynamics of settler colonialism Constrained in different ways by the limitations imposed on free expression in a colonial context diverse groups of European settlers Algerian Muslims and Algerian Jews nevertheless turned to the press to articulate their hopes and fears for the future of the land they inhabited and to imagine forms of community which would continue to influence political debates until the Algerian War The frontiers of these imagined communities did not necessarily correlate with those of the nation either French or Algerian but framed processes of identification that were at once local national and transnational The New White Race explores these processes of cultural and political identification highlighting the production practices professional networks and strategic linguistic choices mobilized by journalists as they sought to influence the sentiments of their readers and the decisions of the French state Announcing the creation of a new white race among the mixed European population of Algeria settler journalists hoped to increase the autonomy of the settler colony without forgoing the protections afforded by their French rulers Their ambivalent expressions of French belonging however reflected tensions among the colonizers these tensions were ably exploited by those who sought to transform or contest French imperial rule

The Feeling Child Philippa Page, Inela Selimovic, Camilla Sutherland, 2018-11-15
The Feeling Child Affect and Politics in Latin American Literature and Film compiles a series of essays focusing on the figure of the child within the specific context of the affective turn in the study of contemporary sociocultural settings across Latin America This edited volume looks specifically at the intersection between cultural constructions of childhood and the affective turn within the contemporary sociopolitical landscape of Latin America The editors and contributors share a common aim in furthering comprehension of the particular intensity of the child s affective presence spectatorial haptic silent and spectral among others in contemporary Latin American cultural expression The contributions herein approach this theoretical challenge through an interdisciplinary lens which brings together two burgeoning strands of inquiry The first is the notion of childhood as a significant and inherently political sociocultural space the second is the recognition that affect is integral and fundamental to gaining a more complex understanding of the manner in which contemporary social worlds are made In each case this affective presence is teased out as a register of society shedding light on the issues marking out the current sociopolitical landscape in particular the traces of the recent past in the regions represented This book brings together established international scholars and young academics focusing on Argentina Bolivia Chile Cuba and Peru

This study provides a consistent description and explanation of the syntax the semantics and the pragmatics of Spanish mood
A major focus of attention is the central role of the truthfunctional categories of realis potentialis and irrealis as parameters relevant to mood selection in both subordinate and non subordinate clauses Furthermore a proposal is offered for a new typology of clause embedding predicates The framework chosen stems from the insight that complement taking predicates share the property of providing information on the set of mental processes which characterize intentional human behavior At the level of pragmatic analysis mood selection is examined from a variety of angles Thus specific research is conducted within the framework of speech act theory relevance theory politeness theory and the theory of Gricean maxims National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1966 First multi year cumulation covers six years 1965 70 Child Care and Child Development Programs, 1977-78 United States. Octavio de Toledo y Huerta,2014-07-31 Since the advent of syntactic cartography left sentence peripheries have begun to take center stage in linguistic research Following the lead of Rizzi 1997 much work on left peripheries has been focused on Italian whereas other Romance languages have attracted somewhat less attention This volume offers a well balanced set of articles investigating left sentence peripheries in Spanish Some articles explore the historical evolution of left dislocation and fronting operations while others seek to assess the extent and the limits of variation found between different geographical varieties and registers of the contemporary language Moreover the volume comprises several case studies on the interfaces between syntax semantics and information structure and the implications of these for pragmatic interpretation and the organization of discourse Cross linguistic and typological perspectives are also provided in due course in order to position the analyses developed for Spanish within a larger research context

Conceiving Freedom Camillia Cowling,2013-11-28 In Conceiving Freedom Camillia Cowling shows how gender shaped urban routes to freedom for the enslaved during the process of gradual emancipation in Cuba and Brazil which occurred only after the rest of Latin America had abolished slavery and even after the American Civil War Focusing on late nineteenth century Havana and Rio de Janeiro Cowling argues that enslaved women played a dominant role in carving out freedom for themselves and their children through the courts Cowling examines how women typically illiterate but with access to scribes instigated myriad successful petitions for emancipation often using free womb laws that declared that the children of enslaved women were legally free She reveals how enslaved women s struggles connected to abolitionist movements in each city and the broader Atlantic World mobilizing new notions about enslaved and free womanhood She shows how women conceived freedom and then taught the free womb generation to understand and shape the meaning of that freedom Even after emancipation freed women would continue to use these claims making tools as they struggled to establish new spaces for themselves and their families in post emancipation society Neuman, Baretti and Seoane's Dictionary of the
