

Approximate Reception Ranges

UK and German Signals

The Anthorn signal is receivable within this area.

North American Signal

Japanese Signals

Chinese Signal

- Even when the watch is within range of a transmitter, signal reception may be impossible due to the effects of geographic contours, structures, weather, the time of year, the time of day, radio interference, etc. The signal becomes weaker at distances of approximately 500 kilometers, which means that the influence of the above conditions becomes even greater.
- Signal reception may not be possible at the distances noted below during certain times of the year or day. Radio interference may also cause problems with reception.
 - Mainflingen (Germany) or Anthorn (England) transmitters: 500 kilometers (310 miles)
 - Fort Collins (United States) transmitter: 500 miles (800 kilometers)
 - Fukushima or Fukushima/Saga (Japan) transmitters: 500 kilometers (310 miles)
 - Shanghai (China) transmitter: 500 kilometers (310 miles)
- As of November 2009, China does not use Daylight Saving Time (DST). If China does go to the Daylight Saving Time system in the future, some functions of this watch may no longer operate correctly.
- Using this watch in a country covered by a time calibration signal that is different from the country it supports may result in incorrect time indication due to local application of summer time, etc.

To get ready for a receive operation

1. Confirm that the watch is in the Timekeeping Mode. If it isn't, hold down (C) at least two seconds to enter the Timekeeping Mode.
2. The antenna of this watch is located on its 12 o'clock side. Position the watch with 12 o'clock facing towards a window as shown in the nearby illustration. Make sure there are no metal objects nearby.

- Signal reception normally is better at night.
- The receive operation takes from two to seven minutes, but in some cases it can take as long as 1.6 minutes. Take care that you do not perform any button operation or move the watch during this time.

- Signal reception may be difficult or even impossible under the conditions described below.

3. What you should do next depends on whether you are using Auto Receive or Manual Receive.
 - Auto Receive: Leave the watch over night in the location you selected in step 2. See "Auto Receive" for details.
 - Manual Receive: Perform the operation under "To perform manual receive".

Auto Receive

- With Auto Receive, the watch performs the receive operation each day automatically up to six times (up to five times for the Chinese calibration signal) between the hours of midnight and 5 a.m. (according to the Timekeeping Mode time). When any receive operation is successful, none of the other receive operations for that day are performed.
- When a calibration time is reached, the watch will perform the receive operation only if it is in the Timekeeping Mode or World Time Mode. The receive operation is not performed if a calibration time is reached while you are configuring settings.

To perform manual receive

1. In the Timekeeping Mode, keep (C) depressed (for about two seconds) as the (C) Second Hand moves through the following sequences.
 - Moves to YES (Y) or NO (N) for some loading or NO (N) to indicate the last signal reception result, then to READY (R).
2. The (C) Second Hand indicates the operations the watch is currently performing.

When the (C) Second Hand is pointed here:

It means this:

READY (R)	Watch is setting up for reception.
WORK (W)	Reception is in progress.
YES (Y)	Reception was completed successfully.
NO (N)	Reception failed for some reason.

- If signal reception is unstable, the (C) Second Hand may move between WORK (W) and READY (R).

3. The receive operation is complete when the (C) Second Hand moves to YES (Y) or NO (N) for about five seconds, and then assumes regular timekeeping.
 - You can return to the Timekeeping Mode manually by pressing (C). When the (C) Second Hand is pointing to YES (Y) or NO (N).
 - When the receive operation is successful, the watch adjusts the time setting accordingly. It does not adjust the setting if the operation failed.

Note

- To interrupt a receive operation and return to the Timekeeping Mode, press any button.

To check the result of the latest receive operation in the Timekeeping Mode, press (C).

- The (C) Second Hand will move to YES (Y) for five seconds if the latest receive operation was successful, or NO (N) if it was not. After that, regular timekeeping will resume.
- You can return to the Timekeeping Mode manually by pressing (C) while the (C) Second Hand is pointing to YES (Y) or NO (N).

Note

- The (C) Second Hand will indicate NO (N) if you have adjusted the time or date setting manually since the latest receive operation.

Radio-controlled Atomic Timekeeping Precautions

- Strong electrostatic charge can result in the wrong time setting.
- Even if a receive operation is successful, certain conditions can cause the time setting to be off by up to one second.
- The watch is designed to update the date and day of the week automatically for the period January 1, 2000 to December 31, 2099. Updating of the date by signal reception will no longer be performed starting from January 1, 2100.
- If you are in an area where signal reception is not possible, the watch keeps time with the precision noted in "Specifications".
- The receive operation is disabled under any of the following conditions.
 - While power is at Level 2 or lower.
 - While the watch is in the power recovery mode ("Power Saving").
 - When the watch is in the function sleep state ("Power Saving").
- A receive operation is cancelled if an alarm sounds while it is being performed.

Mode Reference Guide

Your watch has four "modes". The mode you should select depends on what you want to do.

To do this:	Enter this mode:
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • View the current time in your Home City and in one of 29 other cities around the globe. • View the current date in the Home City. • Configure Home City and daylight saving time (DST) settings. • Perform a time calibration receive operation. • Configure time and date settings manually. 	Timekeeping Mode
Use the stopwatch to measure elapsed time.	Stopwatch Mode
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Select one of 29 cities (time zones) around the world and view the current time there. • Select daylight saving/summer time (DST) or standard time for a time zone. 	World Time Mode
Set an alarm time.	Alarm Mode

Selecting a Mode

With this watch, everything starts from the Timekeeping Mode.

To determine the watch's current mode
Check the position of the (C) Left Dial Hand as shown under "To select a mode".

To return to the Timekeeping Mode from any other mode

Except while the watch is performing auto hand home position operation, hold down (C) at least two seconds until the (C) Second Hand returns to 12 o'clock.
