Thompson, 2007-10-12 It gives me great pleasure to witness continued growth in the application of cognitive and behavioral theories and therapies to more diverse populations including in this volume their application to the mental health problems of later life Evidence continues to accumulate demonstrating that these are effective in treating a broad range of elderly patient groups This is the first book to examine a number of these evidence based interventions currently in use with older adults The editors have assembled chapters developed in many of the leading clinical and clinical research programs focusing on elderly patients both in this country and in the UK Since the emphasis of this volume is primarily on clinical application each author group was asked to discuss the empirical data for the treatment strategies it is using with the specific patient group selected Typically this was followed by a detailed description of treatment procedures that were then illustrated by one or more clinical examples The book begins by examining the treatment of depressive and anxiety disorders and then moves on to more complicated and/or serious disorders including schizophrenia and other psychoses suicidal behavior personality disorders bipolar disorders dementia and complicated bereavement A chapter on the problems and issues in training therapists to use evidence based interventions effectively is also included along with a chapter discussing the implications of Medicare policies and guidelines for service delivery

Knight, Nancy A. Pachana, 2015-01-08 Due to improvements in health and healthcare the elderly population is expanding rapidly within the developed world However more and more elderly people require some form of psychological support at some point in their later years The types of problems faced by this population are quite distinct and often more complex than those faced by younger adults and throw up many new challenges in both assessment and treatment Though there are books available that focus individually on assessment or treatment few have combined the two into a single framework Within this book Knight and Pachana argue that psychological assessment needs to be more tightly integrated with therapy especially with older adult clients Using the Contextual Adult Lifespan Theory for Adapting Psychotherapy CALTAP as a framework for applying our knowledge about developmental social contextual and cohort generational factors that influence age differences in response to psychological assessment and therapy they present an integrated framework for psychological assessment and therapy with older adults This text is valuable for practitioners looking for a solid theoretical basis for the practice of assessment and therapy with older clients students in graduate courses looking at later lifespan issues and educators looking for material to enhance generalist psychotherapy courses with a lifespan perspective
