Genesis Abraham Kuruvilla, 2014-02-17 Genesis A Theological Commentary for Preachers engages hermeneutics for preaching employing theological exegesis that enables the preacher to utilize all the narrative units of the book to craft effective sermons This commentary unpacks the crucial link between Scripture and application the theology of each preaching text i e what the author is doing with what he is saying Genesis is thus divided into thirty five narrative units and the theological focus of each is delineated The overall theological trajectory theme of the book divine blessing creating for blessing Gen 1 11 moving towards blessing Gen 12 24 experiencing the blessing Gen 25 36 and being a blessing Gen 37 50 is thus progressively developed The specificity of these theological ideas for their respective texts makes possible a sequential homiletical movement through each pericope of the book enabling the expositor to discover valid application for sermons While the primary goal of the commentary is to take the preacher from text to theology it also provides two sermon outlines for each of the thirty five units of Genesis The unique approach of this work results in a theology for preaching commentary that promises to be useful for anyone teaching through Genesis with an emphasis on application      Shapes of Time

Michael McGillen, 2023-12-15 Shapes of Time explores how concepts of time and history were spatialized in early twentieth century German thought Michael McGillen locates efforts in German modernism to conceive of alternative shapes of time beyond those of historicism and nineteenth century philosophies of history at the boundary between secular and theological discourses By analyzing canonical works of German modernism those of Karl Barth Franz Rosenzweig Siegfried Kracauer and Robert Musil he identifies the ways in which spatial imagery and metaphors were employed to both separate the end of history from a narrative framework and to map the liminal relation between history and eschatology Drawing on theories and practices as disparate as constructivism non Euclidean geometry photography and urban architecture Shapes of Time presents original connections between modernism theology and mathematics as played out within the canon of twentieth century German letters Concepts of temporal and spatial form McGillen contends contribute to the understanding not only of modernist literature but also of larger theoretical concerns within modern cultural and intellectual history      History, 1928
