

The background of the cover is a classical oil painting of Saint Thomas Aquinas. He is depicted from the chest up, wearing a black habit with a gold-trimmed skullcap. His face is serious and contemplative, with a prominent nose and deep-set eyes. His right hand is raised, holding a quill pen over an open book. The book's pages are red, and a small, ornate initial is visible. In the lower right, a glass inkwell sits on a wooden surface. The overall style is that of a Renaissance or Baroque religious portrait.

Aquinas on Beauty Christopher Scott Sevier, 2015-02-12 Aquinas on Beauty explores the nature and role of beauty in the thought of Thomas Aquinas Beginning with a standard definition of beauty provided by Aquinas it explores each of the components of that definition The result is a comprehensive account of Aquinas's formal view on the subject supplemented by an exploration into Aquinas's commentary on Dionysius's Divine Names including a comparison of his views with those of both Dionysius and those of Aquinas's mentor Albert the Great The book also highlights the tight connection in Aquinas's thought between aesthetics and ethics and illustrates how Aquinas preserves what is best about aesthetic traditions preceding him and anticipates what is best about aesthetic traditions that would follow marrying objective and subjective aesthetic intuitions and charting a kind of via media between the common extremes      Humanity in the Mystery of God Jennifer Cooper, Jennifer Elaine Cooper, 2009-08-30 A unique study of Schillebeeckx's theological anthropology and his reflection on the nature of God as both creator and redeemer      Virtue Ethics in the Middle Ages István Pieter Bejczy, 2008 This collection surveys the tradition of medieval commentaries on Aristotle's Nicomachean Ethics from its thirteenth century origins to the fifteenth century concentrating on the conception of the moral and intellectual virtues in a continuous interplay of ancient and Christian moral thought      Categories and Logic in Duns Scotus Giorgio Pini, 2022-04-19 This volume deals with thirteenth century interpretations of Aristotle's Categories providing at the same time an introduction to some main themes of medieval philosophical logic It analyzes various answers to the question whether the Aristotle's short and influential treatise is a logical or a metaphysical work and to the connected question whether categories are words concepts or things It also presents the doctrine of the so called second intentions and traces the influence that it had on the interpretation of the Categories in authors such as Thomas Aquinas Peter of Auvergne Simon of Faversham Radulphus Brito and Duns Scotus The last two chapters entirely devoted to Duns Scotus's reading of the Categories provide a systematic introduction to Scotus's commentary on Aristotle's treatise which has hitherto been largely neglected      The Godly Image Romanus Cessario, 2020-06-19 Christian satisfaction stands at the center of the Church's teaching about salvation Satisfaction pertains to studies about Christ redemption the Sacraments and pastoral practice The topic also enters into questions about God and the creature as well as about the divine mercy and providence. Somewhat neglected in the period after Vatican II, satisfaction now appears to scholars as the forgotten key to entering deeply into the mystery of Christ and his work. Seminarians especially will benefit from studying the place satisfaction holds in Catholic life. Further ecumenical work requires a proper understanding of the place that satisfaction holds in Christian theology. Various factors operative since the sixteenth century have worked to displace satisfaction almost entirely from reformed practice and theology. To address such concerns, The Godly Image has over the past several decades and more done a great deal to put satisfaction within its proper context of image restoration. That is to interpret satisfaction within the context of the divine mercy and not the divine justice. This unique contribution to satisfaction studies owes a great deal to the achievement of Saint Thomas Aquinas. In this sense the book enacts a retrieval of the theology of the high classical period. Like much of Aquinas's refined teaching, a proper understanding requires appeal to the commentatorial tradition that follows him. Interested students will find in this study the touchstones for further studies of these authors. The Godly Image I aims also to distinguish the theology of Aquinas from that of the medieval author with whom the notion of satisfaction remains mostly identified, that is Anselm of Canterbury. Although not a developed focus of the book's contents, the attentive reader will recognize that Aquinas treats Saint Anselm with a reverential reading even as the Common Doctor moves significantly away from interpretations of satisfaction that suggest that an angry God exacts from his innocent Son a painful substitutional penalty for a fallen human race.

New Outpourings of the Spirit Joseph Cardinal Ratzinger, Pope Benedict XVI, 2007. The volume consists of two fundamental texts by Cardinal Ratzinger, now Pope Benedict XVI, on the ecclesial movements and new communities within the Church since the Second Vatican Council. These writings are particularly meaningful with regard to the intense spiritual journey which the ecclesial movements and the new communities are experiencing in view of their meeting with Pope Benedict XVI on Pentecost 2006. These writings are a precious guide for the entire Church, leaders and laity alike, who are invited to welcome the new outpourings of the Spirit. The first part of the book presents in an articulate and exhaustive way the theological vision of the Pope on these ecclesial movements and the new communities. It is his talk titled Church Movements and their Place in Theology which he gave at the beginning of the World Congress of the Ecclesial Movements in Rome in 1998. It combines extraordinary theological depth with a warm pastoral tone. The second part of the book is very different from the first but complements the first part. It contains the dialogue of Cardinal Ratzinger with a large group of Bishops from all continents convened together for a seminar on the topic The Ecclesial Movements in the Pastoral Concern of the Bishops held in Rome in 1999. This dialogue format was very favorably received by the Bishops and it is quite wide ranging, touching on topics such as the relation between the old and the new charisms, the institutional dimension and the charismatic dimension of the Church and the Church's mission in a non-Christian society and more.
