Inmate 1818 and Other Stories Bernard Otterman,2014-10-09 Inmate 1818 and other stories represents the third iteration of my collection of Holocaust related short fiction The first edition of these stories was published in 2001 in a bilingual Russian and English version titled Golem of Auschwitz stories the first edition was translated into Chinese and published in 2004 This edition can be downloaded in full and free of charge at www.bernardotterman.com Subsequently I wrote additional stories inspired by the Holocaust These were included in a 2008 English language edition titled Black grass and other stories I present today Inmate 1818 and other stories This collection includes newly revised versions of all previously published stories plus the translator prefaces to the Russian and Chinese editions These prefaces provide powerful windows into these societies views of the Holocaust and the significance of the collection to each culture Author s preface

David Laing, LL. D. Gilbert Goudie,1918 West-Country Stories and Sketches, Biographical and Historical William Henry Hamilton Rogers,1895 Accounts and Papers of the House of Commons Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons,1829 History of Venango County, Pennsylvania ,1890 The English Prisons D. L. Howard,2023-10-25 In the late 1950s crime and its treatment had never been of greater public interest In The English Prisons originally published in 1960 D L Howard used his knowledge of academic criminology and his practical experience of criminals of all ages to produce a book which would be of value to all who were concerned with crime in this country at the time The author gives the first full survey of the history of prisons to appear for many years He describes conditions in the early prisons and prison hulks the colonial penal settlements and the part played by outstanding individuals such as John Howard Elizabeth Fry and Alexander Paterson in the development of the modern prison system He then discusses in the light of first class experience as a trained sociologist working inside an English prison the changes which were taking place in the treatment of criminals and the problems which these changes were creating Mr Howard shows a rare insight into his subject and this together with an ability to write vividly and informally would make his book appeal to both the general reader and all who were studying the social sciences in the universities and as part of their training for social work Today it can be read in its historical context

The Rise of Caring Power Annemieke van Drenth, Francisca de Haan, 1999 This original study discusses the role of women in developing and dispersing caring power and vice versa the role of caring power in constituting women as modern social subjects processes which began around 1800 Based on the historian philosopher Foucault's concept of pastoral power caring power also takes into account the vital role played by gender Both humanitarian and religious motives fostered the ideal of serving the well being of individual others and thereby the interest of society as a whole With the rise of caring power this book argues women began to feel responsible for those of their own sex and to organize themselves in all female organizations In the process they carved out new gender identities for themselves and the women in their care The authors illustrate this profound historical change with the work of the reformers Elizabeth Fry 1780 1845 and Josephine Butler 1828 1906 and trace their impact in Britain and the Netherlands History of Cambridge, Massachusetts, 1630-1877, Volume 1 Lucius R. Paige, 2018 The History of Cambridge was originally published in 1877 Besides the historical narrative in this volume the second volume contains a very full and carefully compiled Genealogical Register of the early settlers and their descendants These volumes are in the most essential respects models of what a town history should be They contain the most important information obtainable from the sources then open to the author and this is presented in a clear and concise narrative In the estimation of those most competent to pass judgment these volumes are authorities But they are something more than authorities They not only instruct they inspire Nobody deserves the privilege of growing up in this city who does not make himself familiar with these books They are epitomes of the history not only of this town but of a good many other Puritan towns It fills this place with memories of by gone scenes and deeds which were precious to the people of those times and are precious still to us their descendants or successors Journal Pennsylvania.
