Scientific Research Effectiveness J. Hurley, 2012-12-06 Baruch S Blumberg NASA Astrobiology Institute Ames Research Center Moffett Field CA USA Scientific research is one of the major human enterprises Many governments are convinced that research and its products provide the means to enrich an economic life that is no longer sustained by traditional manufacturing and service industries The public has a high expectation of medical research and many are convinced that with the expenditure of sufficient money all human diseases can be conquered they look forward to a long and disease free life There is also a great interest in many sectors of society to understand nature not only in order to control it or learn how best to cope with its uncertainties but to accumulate knowledge for its own sake Finally scientific research contributes significantly to the intellectual stores of humanity and provides an important process to explore the most profound questions of life Modern science is rarely a solitary occupation It requires heavy investments in equipment supplies buildings and field capabilities Scientists need a band of fellow explorers with whom to share the adventure discuss experiments and results and perhaps most importantly enable the testing and retesting of their hypotheses by themselves and by others This was certainly the case in my own research which led eventually to the discovery of the Hepatitis B virus and later to the vaccine for it Scientific training is very specialized whereas the solutions to problems transcend narrow disciplinary borders

Social Capital in Organizational Ecosystems Thomas, Brychan Celfyn, Murphy, Lyndon John, 2019-03-19 Social capital as a concept is a comparatively recent addition to the regional economic and innovation literature Facets of social capital are generally acknowledged to include trust collaboration cooperation bridging and bonding social network ties and reciprocity Nevertheless forms of social capital such as bonding and bridging social capital are less frequently explored in the literature Innovation and Social Capital in Organizational Ecosystems breaks down the concept of innovation into its main components which represent a spectrum of innovation activity from technology based innovation to hidden and social innovation in order to support executives concerned with innovation and social capital in different work communities and environments Highlighting a range of topics including regional development social innovation network capital and more this book is ideally designed for researchers professionals students policymakers and practitioners Routledge Handbook of Human Resource Management in Asia Fang Lee Cooke, Sunghoon Kim, 2017-09-11 Human Resource Management HRM is fundamentally shaped by institutional and cultural factors such as the different political environments and social philosophies of particular countries and regions By examining the various organizational aspects of business life and systems of people management in Asia the study of HRM across the continent can therefore give us a greater understanding of Asian societies as well as the contemporary world of work more generally This handbook provides an up to date and intellectually engaging overview of HRM in the Asian context Distinctive in its comprehensive coverage of traditional as well as emerging topics of HRM it analyzes important themes such as the regulatory framework for work and employment religiosity family business and gender Using a comparative approach it also effectively highlights the unique features of each country's attitudes towards HRM Covering a range of themes and case studies sections include Institutional and cultural contexts Labour regulation and industrial relations Thematic and functional HRM HRM in selected Asian countries such as China Japan Vietnam India and Singapore Written in a highly accessible style this book will be useful to students and scholars of Human Resource Management Asian Business Economics and Sociology Chapter 15 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license Proceedings of IAC 2017 in Vienna group of authors, 2017-08-15 International Academic Conference on Teaching Learning and E learning and International Academic Conference on Management Economics and Marketing Vienna Austria 2017 IAC MEM 2017 IAC TLEI 2017 August 18-19 2017 Creating Wealth from Knowledge J. R. Bessant, Tim Venables, 2010-01-01 This book illustrates that although innovation has always mattered in economic development simply increasing expenditure in creating knowledge may not be the answer we need to look at the whole system through which such knowledge translates to value creation The contributors explore the implications of the changing twenty first century context of networked global and increasingly open innovation a world in which knowledge flows become as important as knowledge creation In so doing they address four key questions what is the context within which innovation occurs in the UK How do new firms form on the basis of knowledge and its deployment How do established firms access and use knowledge to improve their current activities and generate new directions What technical and organizational infrastructures enable these activities Drawing out lessons for future research this book will be of great interest to academics concerned with science and innovation policy and its implementation Managers and policy makers involved in innovation and technology strategy and with developing responses to new challenges such as open innovation will also find much to interest them within this book
