Theophilus and the Theory and Practice of Medieval Art Heidi C. Gearhart, 2017-05-02 In this study of the rare twelfth century treatise On Diverse Arts Heidi C Gearhart explores the unique system of values that guided artists of the High Middle Ages as they created their works Written in northern Germany by a monk known only by the pseudonym Theophilus On Diverse Arts is the only known complete tract on art to survive from the period It contains three books each with a richly religious prologue describing the arts of painting glass and metalwork Gearhart places this one of a kind treatise in context alongside works by other monastic and literary thinkers of the time and presents a new reading of the text itself Examining the earliest manuscripts she reveals a carefully ordered sophisticated work that aligns the making of art with the virtues of a spiritual life On Diverse Arts Gearhart shows articulated a distinctly medieval theory of art that accounted for the entire process of production from thought and preparation to the acquisition of material the execution of work the creation of form and the practice of seeing An important new perspective on one of the most significant texts in art history and the first study of its kind available in English Theophilus and the Theory and Practice of Medieval Art provides fresh insight into the principles and values of medieval art making Scholars of art history medieval studies and Christianity will find Gearhart's book especially edifying and valuable Deutz Instruction Manual F3-6L 912 Klöckner-Humboldt-Deutz AG., 1975* Rice Farming Systems, 1989 Egyptian rice research and training center inaugural Rice in Egyptian and global agriculture in 2000 New dimensions for genetic improvement in rice Strategies in rice crop management New directions for rice farming systems Biotechnology and rice improvement Postharvest technology and by product utilization for rice Recent accomplishments in rice research in Egypt Farm Equipment Red Book Issue, 1990 Bibliography of Scientific and Industrial Reports, 1948 The Conversion of Herman the Jew Jean-Claude Schmitt, 2013-04-22 Sometime toward the middle of the twelfth century it is supposed an otherwise obscure figure born a Jew in Cologne and later ordained as a priest in Cappenberg in Westphalia wrote a Latin account of his conversion to Christianity Known as the Opusculum this book purportedly by Herman the former Jew may well be the first autobiography to be written in the West after the Confessions of Saint Augustine. It may also be something else entirely. In The Conversion of Herman the Jew, the eminent French historian Jean Claude Schmitt examines this singular text and the ways in which it has divided its readers. Where some have seen it as an authentic conversion narrative, others have asked whether it is not a complete fabrication forged by Christian clerics. For Schmitt, the question is poorly posed. The work is at once true and fictional, and the search for its lone author, whether converted Jew or not, is fruitless. Herman may well have existed and contributed to the writing of his life, but the Opusculum is a collective work, perhaps framed to meet a specific institutional agenda. With agility and erudition, Schmitt examines the text to explore its meaning within the society and culture of its period and its participation in both a Christian and Jewish imaginary. What can it tell us about autobiography and subjectivity, about the function of dreams and the legitimacy of religious images, about individual and collective conversion, and about names and identities? In The Conversion of Herman the Jew, Schmitt masterfully seizes upon the debates surrounding the Opusculum, the text of which is newly translated for this volume, to ponder more fundamentally the ways in which historians think and write.

From Judgment to Passion Rachel Fulton, Rachel Fulton Brown, 2002. How and why did the images of the crucified Christ and his grieving mother achieve such prominence, inspiring unparalleled religious creativity as well as such imitative extremes as celibacy and self-flagellation? To answer this question, Fulton ranges over developments in liturgical performance, private prayer, doctrine, and art.
