Government Discourse And Housing Urban And Regional Planning And Development Series:

Government Discourse and Housing Jago Dodson, 2007 This volume uses post structuralist theory to develop a framework for the analysis of government institutions and policy and applies this to the study of government housing policy in Western nations It uses the post structuralist approach to examine detailed case studies of housing policies in Europe Australia and New Zealand thereby evaluating the strengths and weaknesses of its application Partnership, Collaborative Planning and Urban Regeneration John McCarthy, 2016-05-13 Approaches to urban regeneration have changed dramatically throughout Europe and the USA over recent decades drawing on notions of public private partnership growth coalitions and local spatial alliances In this engaging book John McCarthy provides critical consideration of such theories in terms of their application to practice He shows how these notions are used to explain the nature and underlying processes of urban development and to further objectives for urban regeneration To test their applicability he examines the case of Dundee including the role of the Dundee Partnership a model for many aspects of partnership working The resulting conclusions suggest ways in which the practice of urban regeneration can be improved in terms of inclusion equity and sustainability

De-coding New Regionalism James W. Scott, 2016-05-13 Bringing together comparative case studies from Central Europe and South America this book focuses on new regions regions created as political projects of modernization and re scaling Through this approach it de codes New Regionalism in terms of its contributions to institutional change while acknowledging its contested nature and contradictions It questions whether these regions are merely a strategy of neo liberal adjustment to changing political and economic conditions or whether they are indicative of true reform greater citizen participation and empowerment It assesses whether these regions are really representing something new or whether they are a reconfiguration of traditional power relationships It provides a timely critical analysis of region building and the extent to which national processes of decentralization and sub national processes of regionalism can enhance the effectiveness and responsiveness of governance De-coding New Regionalism Professor James W. Scott, 2012-11-28 Bringing together comparative case studies from Central Europe and South America this book focuses on new regions regions created as political projects of modernization and re scaling Through this approach it de codes New Regionalism in terms of its contributions to institutional change while acknowledging its contested nature and contradictions It questions whether these regions are merely a strategy of neo liberal adjustment to changing political and economic conditions or whether they are indicative of true reform greater citizen participation and empowerment It assesses whether these regions are really representing something new or whether they are a reconfiguration of traditional power relationships It provides a timely critical analysis of region building and the extent to which national processes of decentralization and sub national processes of regionalism can enhance the effectiveness and responsiveness of governance Reshaping Planning with Culture Greg Young, 2016-04-08 Planning is described as being increasingly sidelined by the impacts of neo liberal restructuring At the same time culture is nowadays seen as the world's key intellectual resource possessing new creative weight in sociological economic and environmental terms This book argues that in the light of this cultural turn there is the opportunity to reposition planning and proposes an original practical and robust system of culturisation Culturisation is defined as the ethical critical and reflexive integration of culture into planning and potentially other areas such as public administration corporate strategy and development thinking Cultural theory planning theory global governance policy and recent innovative culturised practices are all explored to this end The new theoretical and practical approach put forward shows how deeper richer and more relevant ideas about culture can be utilized in planning and is illustrated with international examples and two major case studies detailing new vistas for a refurbished planning

Overcoming Fragmentation in Southeast Europe

Panayiotis Getimis, 2017-11-28 With the expansion of the European Union the countries of Southeast Europe have finally been brought together within one socio political entity The restructuring of these economies following globalization and neoliberalization has meant that this region has become much more open to geopolitical shifts and trends While the various countries have all entered into the slow process of European integration the historic fragmentation of this region has led to various conflicts and contradictions in the restructuring and transition of national economies This volume provides a theoretical and comparative overview which examines the prospects for spatial cohesion in this region With the need to handle persisting problems and conflicts from the past while coping with new economic and political structures Southeast Europe proves to be a challenging yet fruitful testing ground for how best to overcome fragmentation and establish a long term process of social and economic integration planning environment and societal environment This book adopts these dimensions to compare planning cultures of different European countries This sheds light not only on the organizational or institutional structure of planning but also the influence of deeper cultural values and layers on planning and implementation processes The Political Economy of Government Subsidised Housing in South Africa Sithembiso Lindelihle Myeni, Andrew Okem, 2019-08-15 This book unpacks the political economy of government subsidised housing programmes in South Africa Exploring government policy towards subsidised housing in South Africa this edited collection analyses various programmes their shortcomings and potential options to address these weaknesses in the context of a country suffering from an exponential demand for housing in the face of insufficient supply The Political Economy of Government Subsidised Housing in South Africa looks at the complex and contested nature of the issue in post apartheid South Africa stimulating debate and knowledge sharing on housing programmes proffering solutions to the issue The book explores the issue from both practical and intellectual standpoints exploring the relationship between historical institutional legacies and contemporary power structures and their role in provision of housing for the growing population of South Africa This book will be of great interest to students of urban and regional planning political economy development studies and African studies APAIS 1994: Australian public affairs information service , Evaluation in Planning Nathaniel Lichfield, Angela Barbanente, Dino Borri, Abdul Khakee, Anna Prat, 2013-03-09 This book is the result of a three day workshop on Evaluation in theory and practice in spatial planning held in Ramsey Hall University College London in September 1996 Some 30 people from 8 different countries attended and 20 papers were presented The majority of them now form the basis for this book This occasion was the third on the topic the two preceding having taken place in Umea in June 1992 and in Bari in 1994 Following these three meetings we can now say that this small industrious international family really enjoy meeting up from time to time at each others places in the presence of older members and new children each one presenting his her own recent experiences It particularly enjoys exchanging views and arguing about the current state and the future of evaluation in spatial planning all families have their vices It is also pleasing to see these experiences and discussions resulting in a book for those who could not attend and for the broader clan in the field Not long time ago but ages in the accelerated academic time scale evaluation in planning established its own role and distinct features as an instrument for helping the decision making process Now this role and these features are exposed to major challenges First the evolution of planning theory has lead to the conception of new planning paradigms based on theories of complexity and communicative rationality Housing and Planning References ,1972 Surveyor and Municipal and County Engineer ,1916 Situated Practices of Strategic Planning Louis Albrechts, Alessandro Balducci, Jean Hillier, 2016-07-22 All over the world societies are facing a number of major problems New developments challenges and opportunities cause these issues and yet cases tell us that traditional spatial planning responses and tools are often insufficient to tackle these problems and challenges Situated Practices of Strategic Planning draws together examples from across the globe from France to Australia from Nigeria to the United States as it observes international comparisons of the strategic planning process Many approaches and policies used today fail to capture the dynamics of urban regional transformation and are more concerned with maintaining an existing social order than challenging and transforming it Stewarded by a team of highly regarded and experienced researchers this book gives a synthetic view of the process of change and frames future directions of development It is unique for its combination of analysis of international case studies and reflection on critical nodes and features in strategic planning This volume will be of interest to students who study regional planning academics professional planners and policy makers

Housing as Governance Astrid Ley,2010 This book explores the dynamic roles and linkages of public sector institutions and civil society actors in housing provision for the urban poor in South Africa Based on actor centred and network theories two cases of civil society alliances are analysed The book reveals that existing civil society structures are hybrids that can oscillate between networks and organisations Moreover they establish informal governance spaces with state actors outside the institutional channels provided by government The emergence of oscillating structures and the informalisation of horizontal governance represent new challenges for local decision making processes Co operation and action oriented approaches in housing seemingly need to be based on a more detailed understanding of the complex interfaces which go far beyond the conventional ideal of partnerships and participation between sectors
