Havana Journal Pelican:

The Subject of Revolution Jennifer L. Lambe, 2024-08-27 From television to travel bans geopolitics to popular dance The Subject of Revolution explores how knowledge about the 1959 Cuban Revolution was produced and how the Revolution in turn shaped new worldviews Drawing on sources from over twenty archives as well as film music theater and material culture this book traces the consolidation of the Revolution over two decades in the interface between political and popular culture The subject of Revolution it proposes should be understood as the evolving synthesis of the imaginaries constructed by its many subjects including revolutionary leaders activists academics and ordinary people within and beyond the island's borders The book reopens some of the questions that have long animated debates about Cuba from the relationship between populace and leadership to the archive and its limits while foregrounding the construction of popular understandings It argues that the politicization of everyday life was an inescapable effect of the revolutionary process as well as the catalyst for new ways of knowing and being

The Cinema of Sara Gómez Susan Lord, María Caridad Cumaná, 2021-07-06 Throughout the 1960s until her untimely death in 1974 Afro-Cuban filmmaker Sara Gómez engaged directly and courageously with the social political economic and cultural transformations promised by the Cuban Revolution Gómez directed numerous documentary films in 10 prolific years She also made De cierta manera One way or another her only feature length film Her films navigate complex experiences of social class race and gender by reframing revolutionary citizenship cultural memory and political value Not only have her inventive strategies become foundational to new Cuban cinema and feminist film culture but they also continue to inspire media artists today who deal with issues of identity and difference The Cinema of Sara Gómez assembles history criticism biography methodology and theory of Gómez's work in scholarly writing interviews with friends and collaborators the film script of De cierta manera and a detailed and complete filmography Featuring striking images this anthology reorients how we tell Cuban cinema history and how we think about the intersections of race gender and revolution By addressing Gómez's entire body of work The Cinema of Sara Gómez unpacks her complex life and gives weight to her groundbreaking cinema

Havana Journal Andrew Salkey, 1971 A month in Havana at an International Congress and a week touring the provinces is not the obvious way to become an authority on revolutionary Cuba But what Andrew Salkey the well-known Jamaican novelist achieves in his journal is a brilliant sense of what the revolution means to a whole range of ordinary and extraordinary people First colonized by Spain subsequently overshadowed by America Cuba is a country more racially mixed and culturally varied than the rest of the West Indies Intellectuals argue late officials query long but none too earnestly A combination of ma ana and sleeping energy pervades the streets of Havana and the sugar fields Yet a sensitive reader can feel in this diary the impact of huge social change on an island which until recently had one face for the rich and another for the poor Havana Journal is of special interest because it portrays a Cuba which is seldom seen by ordinary visitors and portrays it through the eyes of a West Indian of another island

Writing the Caribbean in
