TRANSPORT IN PLANTS AND ANIMALS.

Introduction

- Transport is the movement of substances within an organism.
- All living cells require oxygen and food for various metabolic processes.
- These substances must be transported to the cells.
- Metabolic processes in the cells produce excretory products which should be eliminated before they accumulate.
- The excretory products should be transported to sites of excretion.
- Organisms like amoeba are unicellular.
- They have a large surface area to volume ratio.
- The body is in contact with the environment.
- Diffusion is adequate to transport substances across the cell membrane and within the organism.
- Large multi-cellular organisms have complex structure where cells are far from each other hence diffusion alone cannot meet the demand for supply and removal of substances.
- Therefore an elaborate transport system is necessary.

Transport in plants

- Simple plants such as mosses and liverworts lack specialized transport system.
- Higher plants have specialized transport systems known as the vascular bundle.
- Xylem transports water and mineral salts.
- Phloem transports dissolved food substances like sugars.

Internal structure of roots and root hairs

- The main functions of roots are ;
 - Anchorage
 - absorption.
 - storage
 - gaseous exchange.
- The outermost layer in a root is the piliferous layer.
- This is a special epidermis of young roots whose cells give rise to root hairs.
- Root hairs are microscopic outgrowths of epidermal cells.
- They are found just behind the root tip,
