Case of William Mumler, Spirit Photographer Louis Kaplan, 2008 In the 1860s William Mumler photographed ghosts or so he claimed Faint images of the dearly departed lurked in the background with the living like his well known photo of the recently assassinated Abraham Lincoln comforting Mary Todd The practice came to be known as spirit photography and some believed Mumler was channeling the dead Skeptics however called it a fraudulent trick on the gullible taking advantage of the grieving at a time of suffering and loss Mumler's insistence that his work brought back the dead led to a sensational trial in 1869 that was the talk of the nation

Mediarchy Yves Citton, 2019-11-11 We think that we live in democracies in fact we live in mediarchies Our political regimes are based less on nations or citizens than on audiences shaped by the media We assume that our social and political destinies are shaped by the will of the people without realizing that the people are always produced both as individuals and as aggregates by the media we are all embedded in mediated publics intra structured by the apparatuses of communication that govern our interactions In this major book Yves Citton maps out the new regime of experience media and power that he designates by the term mediarchy To understand mediarchy we need to look both at the effects that the media have on us and also at the new forms of being and experience that they induce in us We can never entirely escape from the effects of the mediarchies that operate through us but by becoming more aware of their conditioning we can develop the new forms of political analysis and practice which are essential if we are to rise to the unprecedented challenges of our time This comprehensive and far reaching book will be essential reading for students and scholars in media and communications politics and sociology and it will be of great interest to anyone concerned about the multiple and complex ways that the media from newspapers and TV to social media and the internet shape our social political and personal lives today Guy Maddin's My Winnipeg Darren Sean

Wershler-Henry, 2010-01-01 Guy Maddin is Canada's most iconoclastic filmmaker Through his reinvention of half forgotten film genres his remobilization of abandoned techniques from the early history of cinema and his unique editing style Maddin has created a critically successful body of work that looks like nothing else in Canadian film My Winnipeg 2008 which Roger Ebert called one of the ten best films of the first decade of the twenty first century has consolidated Maddin's international reputation In this sixth volume of the Canadian Cinema series Darren Wershler argues that Maddin's use of techniques and media that fall outside of the normal repertoire of contemporary cinema require us to re examine what we think we know about the documentary genre and even film itself Through an exploration of My Winnipeg s major thematic concerns memory the cultural archive and how people and objects circulate through the space of the city Wershler contends that the result is a film that is psychologically and affectively true without being historically accurate Babbling Corpse Grafton
