- 1.3.2 COPE did not do as well as had been predicted. ✓ 5
- The graph shows that except for the Western Cape where the predicted number of seats and the actual number of seats is the same, in all the other provinces the predicted result is more than the actual number of seats. In three of the provinces namely KwaZulu-Natal, Limpopo and Mpumalanga the predicted result was significantly more than the actual number of seats. ✓ ✓ ✓
- 1.4 The predicted results anticipated that COPE would do much better than it did. They predicted that this would result in the ANC getting fewer votes than it actually did get. In the Western Cape they predicted that the ID would do much better than it did which meant that the ANC and the DA did better than was predicted. The result was that the DA did get above 50% of the votes in the Western Cape. This survey gave the impression that the rise of COPE would make a big difference to the number of votes that the ANC would get. The sample that they used to obtain their data was only 0,03% of the voting population, which is a very small sample and hence could have given a skewed opinion. An Age of Accountability John L. Rury, 2023-10-13 An Age of Accountability highlights the role of test based accountability as a policy framework in American education from 1970 to 2020 For more than half a century the quest to hold schools and educators accountable for academic achievement has relied almost exclusively on standardized assessment The theory of change embedded in almost all test based accountability programs held that assessment with stipulated consequences could lead to major improvements in schools This was accomplished politically by proclaiming lofty goals of attaining universal proficiency and closing achievement gaps which repeatedly failed to materialize But even after very clear disappointments no other policy framework has emerged to challenge its hegemony The American public today has little confidence in institutions to improve the quality of goods and services they provide especially in the public sector As a consequence many Americans continue to believe that accountability remains a vital necessity even if educators and policy scholars disagree
