FitzGerald's Rubáiyát of Omar Khayyám Adrian Poole, Christine van Ruymbeke, William H. Martin, Sandra Mason, 2013-11-01 Edward FitzGerald's Rubáiyát loosely based on verses attributed to the eleventh century Persian writer Omar Khayyám has become one of the most widely known poems in the world republished virtually every year from 1879 to the present day and translated into over eighty different languages And yet it has been largely ignored or at best patronized by the academic establishment This volume sets out to explore the reasons for both the popularity and the neglect Translation and the Poet's Life Paul Davis, 2008-09-04 Between the Civil War and the early decades of the eighteenth century English poets of the first rank devoted more of their time and creative energies to translating than they had ever done before or have ever done since Paul Davis's Translation and the Poet's Life is the first study to range across the entirety of this golden age of poetic translation in England taking as its organizing principle and object of inquiry the significances of translating itself as a distinctive mode of imaginative conduct Composed of case studies of the five leading poet translators of the age John Denham Henry Vaughan Abraham Cowley John Dryden and Alexander Pope it explores the part translation played in their lives as poets and thence in modelling the poet's life during what was a period of transition between early modern and modern constructions of it The argumentative method of the book is metaphorical Each chapter explores the impact on the theory and practice of the poet at issue of a metaphor or group of metaphors broadly current in contemporary translation discourse in particular figurations of the translator as an exile as a child as a code breaker and as a slave and comparisons of translation to friendship sexual congress metamorphosis and trade The majority of these metaphors were wholly or potentially pejorative translation remained a controversial practice throughout this period widely depreciated and stigmatized Turning translator accordingly forced the five major poets considered in Translation and the Poet's Life to undertake strenuous efforts of self inquiry and self presentation to find new answers to questions integral to their understandings of themselves and their standing in their culture questions about vocation and career fame and happiness responsibility and freedom Translation and the Poet's Life tells the stories of these personal and public remakings The Lost Steps André Breton, 1996-01-01 The Lost Steps Les Pas perdus is André Breton's first collection of critical and polemical essays Composed between 1917 and 1923 these pieces trace his evolution during the years when he was emerging as a central figure in French and European intellectual life They chronicle his tumultuous passage through the Dada movement proclaim his explosive views on Modernism and its heroes and herald the emergence of Surrealism itself Along the way we are given Breton's serious commentaries on his Modernist predecessors Guillaume Apollinaire and Alfred Jarry followed by his not so serious Dada manifestoes Also included are portraits of Marcel Duchamp Francis Picabia and Breton's mysterious friend Jacques Vaché as well as a crisis by crisis account of his dealing with Dada's leader Tristan Tzara Finally Breton offers a first glimpse of Surrealism the movement that was forever after identified with his name and that stands as a defining force in twentieth century aesthetics Mark Polizzotti editorial director of David R Godine Publisher is the author of Revolution of the Mind The Life of André Breton He is also the translator of Jean Echenoz's Double Jeopardy Nebraska 1994 and Cherokee Nebraska 1994 and of André Breton's Conversations The Autobiography of Surrealism Mary Ann Caws is Distinguished Professor of French at Hunter College and at the City University of New York Her most recent work is Robert Motherwell What Art Holds She is the translator of André Breton's Mad Love Nebraska 1987 and Communicating Vessels Nebraska 1990
