and would they even find a caravan to travel with However this young woman had a special relationship with her Creator one whose name is so powerful that only the High Priests referred to Him by his rightful name Yahweh From the moment that we are introduced to Mary by Luke we are made aware of the abundant trust she has in God our Father She answers God's request of her that she bear and give life to the Son of God though she had not yet known man No doubt this trust carried her through the difficulties and challenges that Caesar Augustus decree placed before her and her faith filled husband This book is the author's attempt to imagine what it must have been like to travel in the chill of winter to try and reach a small town over 80 miles away in time to be counted by Caesar's soldiers It was inspired by an advent project she created over two decades ago with the first five children of her family of thirteen The book is supported by a website adventjourneywithmaryandjoseph.com where coloring pages are available for children to enjoy as well as instructions about how to create your own advent journey with Mary and Joseph The whimsical illustrations found within the book along with the colouring pages are the creation of the young artist Teresa Tomas This book is a great resource that can be used during the advent season and has been written in a manner that a family can spread reading the book out through all of Advent or read it in just the last week or two before Christmas
