Chinese Aerospace Power Lyle J Goldstein, Andrew S.

Erickson, 2012-04-30 China's aircraft carrier program is making major waves well before the first ship has been completed

Undoubtedly this development heralds a new era in Chinese national security policy While the present volume presents substantial new insight on that particular question its focus is decidedly broader in scope Chinese Aerospace Power offers a comprehensive survey of Chinese aerospace developments with a focus on areas of potential strategic significance previously unexplored in Western scholarship The book also links these developments to the vast maritime battlespace of the Asia Pacific region and highlights the consequent implications for the U S military particularly the U S Navy

How realistically did the British government assess the threat from Nazi Germany during the 1930s How accurate was British intelligence's understanding of Hitler's aims and Germany's military and industrial capabilities In The Ultimate Enemy Wesley K Wark catalogues the many misperceptions about Nazi Germany that were often fostered by British intelligence This book the product of exhaustive archival research first looks at the goals of British intelligence in the 1930s He explains the various views of German power held by the principal Whitehall authorities including the various military intelligence directorates and the semi clandestine Industrial Intelligence Centre and he describes the efforts of senior officials to fit their perceptions of German power into the framework of British military and diplomatic policy Identifying the four phases through which the British intelligence effort evolved he assesses its shortcomings and successes and he calls into question the underlying premises of British intelligence doctrine Wark shows that faulty intelligence assessments were crucial in shaping the British policy of appeasement up to the outbreak of World War II His book offers a new perspective on British policy in the interwar period and also contributes a fascinating case study in the workings of intelligence services during a period of worldwide crisis Mining Journal,
