TSR2 Andrew Brookes,2017-10-19 The TSR2 is one of the greatest what if aircraft of the Cold War whose cancellation still generates anger and controversy among aviation fans It was a magnificent cutting edge aircraft one of the most striking of the Cold War but fell victim to cost overruns overambitious requirements and politics Its scrapping marked the point when Britain s aerospace industry could no longer build world class aircraft independently After the demise of TSR2 the RAF s future jets would be modified US aircraft like the Phantom and pan European collaborations like Tornado and Typhoon In this book the eminent air power analyst and ex Vulcan bomber pilot Andrew Brookes takes a fresh hard headed look at the TSR2 project telling the story of its development short career and cancellation and evaluating how it would have performed in Cold War strike roles as well as in the recent wars in the Middle East

Technology, Productivity, and Economic Growth Susanto Basu,Lucy Eldridge,John Haltiwanger,Erich Strassner,2025-07-07 A wide reaching exploration of how technological advancements influence and shape productivity and economic growth Current technological developments in several industries such as the rise of artificial intelligence and innovations associated with the green energy transition are likely to have significant and wide ranging effects This volume explores the implications of rapid changes in advanced technology and considers how to conceptualize and model these advances and improve measures of productivity and economic growth The study of these issues is facilitated both by new methods for using and integrating disparate data sources and by the availability of new data sources The chapters in this volume leverage these developments to offer fresh insights into long standing issues in productivity analysis and technological change

Algorithms, Automation, and News Neil Thurman,Seth C. Lewis,Jessica Kunert,2021-05-18 This book examines the growing importance of algorithms and automation including emerging forms of artificial intelligence in the gathering composition and distribution of news In it the authors connect a long line of research on journalism and computation with scholarly and professional terrain yet to be explored Taken as a whole these chapters share some of the noble ambitions of the pioneering publications on reporting algorithms such as a desire to see computing help journalists in their watchdog role by holding power to account However they also go further firstly by addressing the fuller range of technologies that computational journalism now consists of from chatbots and recommender systems to artificial intelligence and atomised journalism Secondly they advance the literature by demonstrating the increased variety of uses for these technologies including engaging underserved audiences selling subscriptions and recombining and re using content Thirdly they problematise computational journalism by for example pointing out some of the challenges inherent in applying artificial intelligence to investigative journalism and in trying to preserve public service values Fourthly they offer suggestions for future research and practice including by presenting a framework for developing democratic news recommenders and another that may help us think about computational journalism in a more integrated structured manner The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Digital Journalism      Music Performance Encounters John Koslovsky, Michiel Schuijjer, 2023-11-29 Why do most musical performers and musical researchers continue to inhabit divergent epistemic spaces To what extent is the act of musical performance coextensive with the act of doing musical research and vice versa At what point in the research process can a performative act transform into a scholarly one and a scholarly act into a performative one These and other related questions form the central focus of this book with each chapter offering a fresh perspective on a particular topic in music performance studies improvisational traditions historical performance practices analysis and performance sports psychology cross cultural musical interactions and institutional challenges This book is aimed at music researchers teachers students and practising musicians interested in the intersection of academic and performance research as such it seeks to bridge the divide between the research of university trained musicologists scholars from other fields who focus on music and the growing community of musical artist researchers Material in this book is supported by performance outcomes offered by the contributors on a separate YouTube channel and on the Routledge online portal
