Shaping Roman Landscape Mantha Zarmakoupi,2023-08-08 A groundbreaking ecocritical study that examines how ideas about the natural and built environment informed architectural and decorative trends of the Roman Late Republican and Early Imperial periods Landscape emerged as a significant theme in the Roman Late Republican and Early Imperial periods Writers described landscape in texts and treatises its qualities were praised and sought out in everyday life and contemporary perceptions of the natural and built environment as well as ideas about nature and art were intertwined with architectural and decorative trends This illustrated volume examines how representations of real and depicted landscapes and the merging of both in visual space contributed to the creation of novel languages of art and architecture Drawing on a diverse body of archaeological art historical and literary evidence this study applies an ecocritical lens that moves beyond the limits of traditional iconography Chapters consider for example how garden designs and paintings appropriated the cultures and ecosystems brought under Roman control and the ways miniature landscape paintings chronicled the transformation of the Italian shoreline with colonnaded villas pointing to the changing relationship of humans with nature Making a timely and original contribution to current discourses on ecology and art and architectural history Shaping Roman Landscape reveals how Roman ideas of landscape and the decorative strategies at imperial domus and villa complexes that gave these ideas shape were richly embedded with meanings of nature culture and labor Roman Britain and the Roman Navy David J. P. Mason, 2003 This interesting and well illustrated study focuses on one particular element of the Roman navy the Classis Britannica Mason draws on recent excavations of Saxon shore forts the remains of the few warships that have been found and the distribution of Classis Britannica tile stamps in England and along the coast of mainland Europe to identify the organization of the British fleet the location of its ports and harbors the type of ships used and the sea paths taken The Journal of Roman Studies, 1911 Includes section Notices of recent publications

Sailing into the Past Jenny Bennett, 2009-06-18 Until recently there was little practical knowledge of the ships of the distant past We could only surmise as to the manner in which a Viking ship sailed or how fast a Greek trireme could be rowed The building of accurate replicas over the past generation has changed all that and what has been learnt about the ships and boats of our ancestors has radically changed our perceptions of sailing and voyaging This beautifully illustrated new book charts those discoveries The worlds leading authorities look at individual replicas and discuss what they have taught us Boris Rankov and John Coates for example discuss the Greek trireme while Antonia Macarthur outlines the lessons learnt on Cooks Endeavour Each chapter deals with a particular vessel and construction sail plans and the intended role are covered before an analysis of sailing performance is discussed Windward ability seakindliness speed and ease of handling are all dealt with General chapters by Richard Woodman and Sean McGrail set the scene A fascinating work which offers the most accessible view yet as to how the ships of our seafaring forbears affected the manner in which they traded fought and explored
