The Emergence of 'Extremism' Rob Faure Walker, 2021-10-21 The idea that the expression of radical beliefs is a predictor to future acts of political violence has been a central tenet of counter extremism over the last two decades Not only has this imposed a duty upon doctors lecturers and teachers to inform on the radical beliefs of their patients and students but as this book argues it is also a fundamentally flawed concept Informed by his own experience with the UK's Prevent programme while teaching in a Muslim community Rob Faure Walker explores the linguistic emergence of extremism in political discourse and the potentially damaging generative effect of this language Taking a new approach which combines critical discourse analysis with critical realism this book shows how the fear of being labelled as an extremist has resulted in counter terrorism strategies which actually undermine moderating mechanisms in a democracy Analysing the generative mechanisms by which the language of counter extremism might actually promote violence Faure Walker explains how understanding the potentially oppressive properties of language can help us transcend them The result is an imminent critique of the most pernicious aspects of the global War on Terror those that are embedded in our everyday language and political discourse Drawing on the author's own successful lobbying activities against counter extremism this book presents a model for how discourse analysis and critical realism can and should engage with the political and how this will affect meaningful change

Popular Visual Shows

1800-1914 Joe Kember, John Plunkett, 2025-04-23 This book tells the story of the growth of picturegoing as a popular habit between 1800 and 1914. Encouraged by urbanisation and changes in transportation, education and leisure patterns, the regular and widespread provision of exhibitions and shows became a defining characteristic of cultural life. Painted panoramas and dioramas, awed with enormous tableaux, the stereoscope immersed viewers in a 3D world, the many varieties of peepshow promised a marvellously garish experience of patriotic battles, gruesome murders and far off places. If that was not enough, the ever versatile magic lantern projected hundreds of thousands of slides of every imaginable subject from travelogues and temperance tales to illustrated hymns and adaptations of popular fiction. Then, after 1896, audiences experienced the cinematograph and were able to enjoy film at the many fixed-venue cinemas that emerged from around 1908. Moving and projected images were displayed not only in town halls, theatres and other large exhibition spaces but also in workhouses, schools, churches, empty shops and fairgrounds. Picturegoing in all its variety became a national pastime, integrating itself more and more pervasively into the structures of everyday life as the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries progressed. Drawing on a wealth of new evidence, this book details the shows that were on offer, where and what they were, the networks and infrastructure they existed within and above all, how their audiences experienced them.
