Justitile Verkenningen:

European Traditions in Civil Procedure C. H. van Rhee, 2005 European co operation has resulted in many new and challenging opportunities for legal scholars who since the so called codification period have become used to operating in a purely national context This applies also to scholars in the field of civil procedure who for a considerable period of time have resisted leaving the purely national domain These scholars have devoted a great deal of attention to the question whether or not harmonisation of civil procedural law is a feasible option and if so in what manner harmonisation should be achieved The contributors to this book seek to further the harmonisation debate by exploring some of the main trends in the development of civil procedural law during the last two centuries in several European countries Germany Austria Switzerland France England and Wales The Netherlands and Belgium Two of the central issues that are addressed by the contributors are the extent to which the various procedural models have influenced each other and the extent to which common traditions in civil procedural law may be distinguished in Europe Each general chapter in this book is supplemented by three chapters devoted to specific procedural topics Conciliation Party Interrogation as Evidence and the Role of the Judge In addition extensive bibliographical references are included

The Oxford Handbook of European Islam Jocelyne Cesari, 2015 For centuries Muslim countries and Europe have engaged one another through theological dialogues diplomatic missions political rivalries and power struggles In the last thirty years due in large part to globalization and migration from Islamic countries to the West what was previously an engagement across national and cultural boundaries has increasingly become an internalized encounter within Europe itself Questions of the Hijab in schools freedom of expression in the wake of the Danish Cartoon crisis and the role of Shari a have come to the forefront of contemporary European discourse The Oxford Handbook of European Islam is the first collection to present a comprehensive approach to the multiple and changing ways Islam has been studied across European countries Parts one to three address the state of knowledge of Islam and Muslims within a selection of European countries while presenting a critical view of the most up to date data specific to each country These chapters analyze the immigration cycles and policies related to the presence of Muslims tackling issues such as discrimination post colonial identity adaptation and assimilation The thematic chapters in parts four and five examine secularism radicalization Shari a Hijab and Islamophobia with the goal of synthesizing different national discussion into a more comparative theoretical framework The Handbook attempts to balance cutting edge assessment with the knowledge that the content itself will eventually be superseded by events Featuring eighteen newly commissioned essays by noted scholars in the field this volume will provide an excellent resource for students and scholars interested in European Studies immigration Islamic studies and the sociology of religion

Between Prohibition and Legalization Ed Leuw, Ineke Haen Marshall, 1994 In a period of two decades Dutch drug policy has evolved in partial opposition to the internationally dominant ideology of prohibitionism The normalizing home policy together with the compliance to law enforcement in the international arena make up a rather complicated and ambivalent Dutch position in drug policy The Dutch drug policy is fully in line with the international control practices against wholesale drug trafficking In regards to its social drug policy however it has become a rare dissenter within an increasingly unifying and compelling international drug policy context This book gives an account of the national Dutch drug control strategy

Incapacitation Marijke Malsch, Marius Duker, 2016-05-23 In many criminal justice systems a new trend towards incapacitation can be witnessed A ubiquitous want for control seems to have emerged as a consequence of perceived safety risks This can be seen not only in the mass incarceration of offenders but also in the disqualification of offenders from jobs in chemical castration in cases of sexual crimes the increased use of electronic monitoring and in the life long monitoring of individuals who pose certain risks Trends towards incapacitation are now even spreading to public administration and the employment sector in the refusal of licenses and the rejection of employees with past criminal records This book discusses the topic of incapacitation from various angles and perspectives It explores how theories of punishment are affected by the more recent emphasis on incapacitation and how criminal justice practice is changing as a consequence of this new emphasis Many contributors express criticisms with this trend towards incapacitation They argue for a better calibration of measures to the severity of the misconduct In addressing an increasingly important development in criminal justice the book will be an essential resource for students researchers and policy makers working in the areas of criminal law sentencing probation and crime prevention

Transnational Environmental Crime Rob White, 2017-07-05 The essays selected for this volume illustrate the growing interest in and importance of crime that is both environmental and transnational in nature The topics covered range from pollution and waste to biodiversity and wildlife crimes and from the violation of human rights associated with the exploitation of natural resources through to the criminogenic implications of climate change The collection provides insight into the nature and dynamics of this type of crime and examines in detail who is harmed and what can be done about it Differential victimisation and contemporary developments in environmental law enforcement are also considered Collectively these essays lay the foundations for a criminology that is forward looking global in its purview and that deals with the key environmental issues of the present age

Governance of the Illegal Trade in E-Waste and Tropical Timber Lieselot Bisschop, 2016-03-09 This book responds to the call for more research on transnational environmental crime and its governance by investigating the illegal trade in electronic waste e waste and tropical timber major forms of transnational environmental crime The book is based on a qualitative multi method research combining document analysis interviews with key informants and field visits Bisschop focuses on the flows that pass through the research setting of the Port of Antwerp Belgium and those between Europe and West and Central Africa The study examines the emergence and social organization of these transnational environmental flows illustrating that although profit or lure play a very important role a range of factors on individual organizational and societal levels together provide the motivations and opportunities Building on these insights the book addresses the governance of these two cases The responsive regulatory pyramid and networked governance are used as theoretical frameworks for this analysis This book is essential reading for scholars and academics interested in transnational environmental crime and corporate crime as well as governance studies

Legitimacy and Trust in Criminal Law, Policy and Justice Nina Peršak, 2016-04-22 Whereas previous studies of legitimacy and trust have mostly dealt with procedural justice and the police this book focuses on other crucial understudied aspects of legitimacy within criminal law policy and criminal justice The chapters expand and develop current criminological legal and socio legal research by addressing conceptions of legitimacy linked to criminal law norms criminalisation and sanctioning by examining EU legal and policy aspects of the phenomenon and by exploring some specific court related issues of legitimacy and trust hitherto neglected With contributions from across the EU this interdisciplinary collection presents a valuable discussion on the importance of trust in legal institutions of modern democracies and suggests ideas for future research in this area to challenge ways of thinking about legitimacy

Regulating Cannabis Tom Decorte, 2018-04-30 With the legalization of recreational cannabis markets in Uruguay Canada and several U S states a breakthrough in conventional cannabis policy is emerging But legalization is not a binary choice between prohibition and some regulated commercial model like alcohol A commercial market is just one of many ways to implement legalization and moving directly from prohibition to commercial legalization leaps from one extreme to the other Tom Decorte a criminologist and anthropologist at Ghent University Belgium who has published numerous articles on substance use cannabis markets and local drug monitoring systems argues that most of us are bypassing other safer forms of legalization including the nonprofit model He explores topics such as Why we need to consider regulation of cannabis markets How local authorities and grassroots movements are advocating change How to best design and implement approaches to legalization Join the author as he examines international regulatory controls over cannabis possession use and cultivation as well as a framework for regulating the cannabis market via a nonprofit corporate model that promotes public health and safety over profits

Measuring Corruption Arthur Shacklock, Fredrik Galtung, 2016-05-06 With the advance of an increasingly globalized market the opportunities for and scale of corruption is growing The size of corporations and their wealth relative to nations provides the resources for corrupt practices The liberalization of international financial markets makes transferring and hiding the proceeds of corruption easier Moves towards privatization in East and West are providing once only incentives for corruption on an unprecedented scale as officials not only deal with the income of the state but with its assets as well In this book Transparency International's TI world renowned Corruption Perception Index CPI and Bribery Perception Index BPI are explained and examined by a group of experts They set out to establish to what extent they are reliable measures of corruption and whether a series of surveys can measure changes in corruption and the effectiveness of anti corruption strategies The book contains a variety of expert contributions which deal with the complexity difficulty and potential for measuring corruption as the key to developing effective strategies for combating it The Third Way Cyrille J.C.F. Fijnaut, Brice de Ruyver, 2015-07-28 What is sensible when it comes to developing and implementing a policy with regard to products which in the case of regular use are harmful but which at the same time exert a strong attraction even so strong that people may become dependent on or addicted to them This question relates to many illicit drugs but these days it is both nationally and internationally mainly related to the policy regarding the production distribution and consumption of cannabis Generally speaking the legalization of cannabis in Uruguay and in some states of the United States of America in particular Colorado and Washington State has given a powerful impetus to the discussion about the cannabis policy In the Netherlands that discussion has become increasingly relevant over the past years because of the struggle of coffeeshop owners and political parties This volume offers the first English language analysis of the situation in the Netherlands in order to make a contribution to the international debate on this heated topic Since the 1960s the Dutch cannabis policy has been an important point of reference in the international discussion about the policy that should be pursued regarding the use of cannabis However in international and foreign literature about cannabis policy the developments in the Netherlands are often depicted in an incomplete or one sided manner which has a negative impact on the quality of the international debate about what has happened and what should happen now This volume seeks to redress that imbalance Understanding Penal Practice Ioan Durnescu, Fergus McNeill, 2013-10-30 Criminological and penological scholarship has in recent years explored how and why institutions and systems of punishment change and how and why these changes differ in different contexts Important though these analyses are this book focuses not so much on the changing nature of institutions and systems but rather the changing nature of penal practice and practitioners Bringing together leading researchers from around the world this collection unites studies that aim to describe and critically analyse penal practice with studies that investigate its effectiveness and prescribe its future development Reversing penology's usual preoccupation with the prison the book focuses mainly on penal practice in the community i.e. on probation parole offender supervision and community corrections The first part of the book focuses on understanding practice and practitioners exploring how changing social cultural political and organisational contexts influence practice and how training development professional socialisation and other factors influence practitioners The second part is concerned with how practitioners can be best supported to develop the skills and approaches that seem most likely to generate positive impacts It contains accounts of new practice models and approaches as well as reports of research projects seeking both to discover and to encourage effective practices This book explores internationally significant and cutting edge theoretical and empirical work on the cultures practices roles and impacts of frontline practitioners in delivering penal sanctions As such it will be of interest to researchers in criminology social work and social policy as well as correctional policy makers and those involved in community supervision Radicalization in Belgium and the Netherlands Nadia Fadil, Francesco Ragazzi, Martijn de Koning, 2019-05-30 The concept of radicalization is now used to account for all forms of violent and non violent political Islam Used widely within the security services and picked up by academia the term was initially coined by the General Intelligence and Security Service of the Netherlands AIVD after the 9 11 and Pentagon attacks an origin that is rarely recognised This book comprises contributions from leading scholars in the field of critical security studies to trace the introduction adoption and dissemination of radicalization as a concept It is the first book to offer a critical analysis and history of the term as an empty signifier that is a word that might not necessarily refer to something existing in the real world The diverse contributions consider how the term has circulated since its emergence in the Netherlands and Belgium its appearance in academia its existence among the people categorized as radicals and its impact on relationships of trust between public officials and their clients Building on the traditions of critical security studies and critical studies on terrorism the book reaffirms the importance of a reflective approach to counter radicalization discourse and policies It will be essential reading for scholars of security studies political anthropology the study of Islam in the west and European studies

Legalizing Cannabis Tom Decorte, Simon Lenton, Chris Wilkins, 2020-02-20 Marijuana is the most widely used illegal drug in the world Over the past couple of decades several Western jurisdictions have seen reforms in or changes to the way cannabis use is being controlled departing from traditional approaches of criminal prohibition that have dominated cannabis use control regimes for most of the twentieth century While reform is stalled at the international level the last decade has seen an acceleration of legislative and regulatory reforms at the local and national levels with countries no longer willing to bear the human and financial costs of prohibitive policies Furthermore legalization models have been implemented in US states Canada and Uruguay and are being debated in a number of other countries These models are providing the world with unique pilot programs from which to study and learn This book assembles an international who s who of cannabis scholars who bring together the best available evidence and expertise to address questions such as How should we evaluate the models of cannabis legalization as they have been implemented in several jurisdictions in the past few years Which scenarios for future cannabis legalization have been developed elsewhere and how similar different are they from the models already implemented What lessons from the successes and failures experienced with the regulation of other psychoactive substances such as alcohol tobacco pharmaceuticals and legal highs can be translated to the effective regulation of cannabis markets Legalizing Cannabis will appeal to anyone interested in public health policies and drug policy reform and offers relevant insights for stakeholders in any other country where academic societal or political evaluations of current cannabis policies and even broader current drug policies are a subject of debate

European Criminal Justice and Policy Marc Cools, 2012 Reviewing European policy with respect to different phases in the criminal justice chain the contributions in this book range from looking into the extension of criminalization in the sphere of trafficking in human beings and labor exploitation to the operability of cross border execution of sentences involving deprivation of liberty Most contributions look into the need to develop a conceptual framework to support future policy making pointing to the lack thereof with respect to liability of legal persons ne bis in idem as an EU principle cross border effect of disqualifications and cooperation with private security actors One essay looks into the public expenditure in different phases of the criminal justice chain based on a case study on the public expenditure of Belgian drug policy Additionally from a historical and comparative perspective the book analyzes specific European and Chinese interrogation rules to provide a solid context for the current situation and to support future legal reforms Series Governance of Security GofS Research Paper Vol 7 Lawyers in 21st-Century Societies Richard L Abel, Ole Hammerslev, Hilary Sommerlad, Ulrike Schultz, 2020-04-02 The world's legal professions have undergone dramatic changes in the 30 years since publication of the landmark three volume Lawyers in Society which launched comparative sociological studies of lawyers This is the first of two volumes in which scholars from a wide range of disciplines countries and cultures document and analyse those changes The present volume presents reports on 46 countries with broad coverage of North America Western Europe Latin America Asia Australia North Africa and the Middle East sub Saharan Africa and former communist countries These national reports address the impact of globalisation and neoliberalism on national legal professions the relationship of lawyers and their professional associations to the state and tensions between state and citizenship changes in lawyer demography rapidly growing numbers and the profession's efforts to retain control the entry of women and obstacles to full gender equality ethnic diversity legal education the proliferation of institutions and pedagogic innovation the regulation of lawyers structures of production especially the growth of large firms and the impact of technology and paraprofessionals the distribution of lawyers across roles and access to justice state funded legal aid and pro bono services The juxtaposition of the reports reveals the dramatic transformations of professional rationales labour markets and working practices and the multiple contingencies of the role of lawyers in societies experiencing increasing juridification within a new geopolitical order Sociology of Law and Legal Anthropology in the Dutch Speaking Countries J. van Houtte, 2024-10-28 Models of Implementation of Article 12 of the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (CRPD) Maciej Domański, Bogusław Lackoroński, 2023-11-30 This book examines the implications of Article 12 of the UN Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities CRPD its resulting standard of protection for persons with disabilities and the way it is understood and implemented in its diverse signatory states Its overarching theme is to assess the impact of CRPD Article 12 on the private law concept of legal capacity and its limitations the significance of which carries over into the realm of penal law regulations Its impact is analysed primarily from the legal point of view but with due regard for its psychological and psychiatric ramifications Recognising the importance of these disciplines is important when implementing CRPD Article 12 into domestic law as they contribute to the determinants in creating a qualificatory legal framework for all persons with disabilities in particular to exercise their rights to legal capacity without let or hindrance As active legal capacity is a notion rooted in and coming from private law this forms the main research perspective The first section discusses the foundational concepts constituting the CRPD Article 12 standard from domestic private law and international law perspectives The work shows that the concepts adopted in private law interact with the protection of persons with disabilities as victims provided for in criminal law In addition where relevant authors also look at public law institutions that are connected with the private law solutions The volume will be an essential reference for academics researchers and policy makers working in the areas of private law criminal law mental health law human rights discrimination law as well as psychology and psychiatry

Crafting Public Institutions Arjen Boin, 2001 Through case studies of two prison systems the U S Federal Bureau of Prisons and the Dutch prison system the book identifies the challenges and opportunities that confront public managers who want to reorient correctional policy and make prisons more effective The book describes how focused leadership or its absence can make a major difference in the character and performance of public organizations The author concludes that the ability of leaders to shape an organization's mission and motivate public servants in accordance with policy goals lies at the heart of making institutions work

Animals in Our Midst: The Challenges of Co-existing with Animals in the Anthropocene Bernice Bovenkerk, Jozef Keulartz, 2021-04-29

This Open Access book brings together authoritative voices in animal and environmental ethics who address the many different facets of changing human animal relationships in the Anthropocene As we are living in complex times the issue of how to establish meaningful relationships with other animals under Anthropocene conditions needs to be approached from a multitude of angles This book offers the reader insight into the different discussions that exist around the topics of how we should understand animal agency how we could take animal agency seriously in farms urban areas and the wild and what technologies are appropriate and morally desirable to use regarding animals This book is of interest to both animal studies scholars and environmental ethics scholars as well as to practitioners working with animals such as wildlife managers zookeepers and conservation biologists

The Oxford Handbook of Organized Crime Letizia Paoli, 2014-09-26 While the success of national and international law enforcement cooperation to suppress organized crime means that stable large scale criminal organizations like the Cosa Nostra or the Japanese Yakuza have seen their power reduced organized crime remains a concern for many governments Economic globalization and the easing of restrictions on exchanges across borders now provide ample opportunity for money making activities in illegal markets Policies designed to stop illegal market flows often shift these activities to new places or create new problems as the U S led war on drugs spread production and trafficking to a number South and Central American countries The Oxford Handbook of Organized Crime provides informed authoritative and comprehensive overviews of these issues and other principal forms of organized crime as well as the type and effectiveness of efforts to prevent and control them Leading scholars from criminology law sociology history and political science discuss the key concepts history and methods of organized crime the major actors and interactions involved in it the markets and activities frequently associated with organized crime and the policies designed to combat it Individual chapters on criminal organizations and specific activities or markets comprise the heart of the volume The chapters on actors provide the history analyze the structure and activities and assess the strength and future prospects of each organization Articles on particular markets address the patterns of activity identify the most affected regions and where possible provide estimated revenues discuss factors promoting the activity and disclose information on the victims and harms caused The Oxford Handbook of Organized Crime delivers a systematic high quality and truly global approach to the topic and with it a more complete understanding of organized crime in its many forms for researchers government officials and policymakers
