Making Men Moral Nancy K. Bristow, 1997-10-01 On May 29 1917 Mrs E M Craise citizen of Denver Colorado penned a letter to President Woodrow Wilson which concluded We have surrendered to your absolute control our hearts dearest treasures our sons If their precious bodies that have cost us so dear should be torn to shreds by German shot and shells we will try to live on in the hope of meeting them again in the blessed Country of happy reunions But Mr President if the hell holes that infest their training camps should trip up their unwary feet and they be returned to us besotted degenerate wrecks of their former selves cursed with that hell born craving for alcohol we can have no such hope Anxious about the United States pending entry into the Great War fearful that their sons would be polluted by the scourges of prostitution venereal disease illicit sex and drink that ran rampant in the training camps countless Americans sent such missives to their government officials In response to this deluge President Wilson created the Commission on Training Camp Activities to ensure the purity of the camp environment Training camps would henceforth mold not only soldiers but model citizens who after the war would return to their communities spreading white urban middle class values throughout the country What began as a federal program designed to eliminate sexually transmitted diseases soon mushroomed into a powerful social force intent on replacing America's many cultures with a single homogenous one Though committed to the positive methods of education and recreation the reformers did not hesitate to employ repression when necessary Those not conforming to the prescribed vision of masculinity often faced exclusion from the reformers idealized society or sometimes even imprisonment Social engineering ruled the day Combining social cultural and military history and illustrating the deep divisions among reformers themselves Nancy K Bristow with the aid of dozens of evocative photographs here brings to life a pivotal era in the history of the U S revealing the complex relationship between the nation's competing cultures progressive reform efforts and the Great War

Making Men Belinda Edmondson, 1999 Explores the gendered subjectivity of West Indian writers and their dependence on models from Victorian England for their narratives of self and nation

The Platonic Dialogues for English Readers: The Republic and the Timæus Plato, 1861

Unmanly Men Brittany E. Wilson, 2015 New Testament scholars typically assume that the men who pervade the pages of Luke's two volumes are models of an implied manliness Scholars rarely question how Lukan men measure up to ancient masculine mores even though masculinity is increasingly becoming a topic of inquiry in the field of New Testament and its related disciplines Drawing especially from gender critical work in classics Brittany Wilson addresses this lacuna by examining key male characters in Luke Acts in relation to constructions of masculinity in the Greco Roman world Of all Luke's male characters Wilson maintains that four in particular problematize elite masculine norms namely Zechariah the father of John the Baptist the Ethiopian eunuch Paul and above all Jesus She further explains that these men do not protect their bodily boundaries nor do they embody corporeal control two interrelated male gender norms Indeed Zechariah loses his ability to speak the Ethiopian eunuch is castrated Paul loses his ability to see and Jesus is put to death on the cross With these bodily violations Wilson argues Luke points to the all powerful nature of God and in the process reconfigures or refigures men's own claims to power Luke however not only refigures the so called prerogative of male power but he refigures the parameters of power itself According to Luke God provides an alternative construal of power in the figure of Jesus and thus redefines what it means to be masculine Thus for Luke real men look manifestly unmanly Wilson's findings in Unmanly Men will shatter long held assumptions in scholarly circles and beyond about gendered interpretations of the New Testament and how they can be used to understand the roles of the Bible's key characters

Central Intelligence Agency, 1964      The Greater Men and Women of the Bible James Hastings, 1914      Women, Men, and Elections Rosalind Shorrock, 2021-08-15 Women Men and Elections sheds new light on gendered political behaviour by analysing the relationship between policy supply and gender gaps in vote choice across elections in the United States Canada Australia New Zealand and multiple Western European countries Rosalind Shorrock argues that the electoral context and specifically policy supply are associated with the ways in which vote choice at election time is gendered Using data from the Comparative Study of Electoral Systems and the Comparative Manifesto Project Shorrock finds that the extent to which men and women differ in their vote choice is contingent on the policy choices that parties offer to voters Women and men respond to party policy positions in ways that are linked to both their gender and their socioeconomic position producing variation in gendered political behaviour across elections across countries and across subgroups in society Women Men and Elections offers a much needed fresh perspective on our understanding of political behaviour representation and party competition It serves as an excellent supplementary text for students and scholars of comparative politics gender and politics and political behaviour      Summary of Tariff Information, 1920 United States.
