The Making of the Abrahamic Religions in Late Antiquity Guy G. Stroumsa, 2015 This book presents how ancient Christianity must be understood from the viewpoint of the history of religions in late antiquity The continuation of biblical prophecy runs like a thread from Jesus through Mani to Muhammad And yet this thread arguably the single most important characteristic of the Abrahamic movement often remains outside the mainstream hidden as it were since it generates heresy The figures of the Gnostic the holy man and the mystic are all sequels of the Israelite prophet They reflect a mode of religiosity that is characterized by high intensity It is centripetal and activist by nature and emphasizes sectarianism and polemics esoteric knowledge or gnosis and charisma The other mode of religiosity obviously much more common than the first one is centrifugal and irenic It favors an ecumenical attitude contents itself with a widely shared faith or pistis and reflects in Weberian parlance the routinization of the new religious movement This is the mode of priests and bishops rather than that of martyrs and holy men These two main modes of religion high versus low intensity exist simultaneously and cross the boundaries of religious communities They offer a tool permitting us to follow the transformations of religion in late antiquity in general and in ancient Christianity in particular without becoming prisoners of the traditional categories of patristic literature Through the dialectical relationship between these two modes of religiosity one can follow the complex transformations of ancient Christianity in its broad religious context

On Making a Shift in the Study of Religion and Other Essays Russell T. McCutcheon, 2021-06-08 Although many would today argue that the onetime dominance of the phenomenology of religion has receded and with it the traditional approach to studying religion as a unique and deeply felt experience that defies explanation the essays collected here take quite the opposite stand that this approach has merely been re branded and continues to characterize much work being done in the field today Offering a different way forward one that is based on experiences gained by the members of the Department of Religious Studies at the University of Alabama a program that has successfully reinvented itself over the past 20 years the book includes a variety of practical suggestions for how members of Religious Studies departments can revise their approach to studying and teaching about religion Seeing religion instead as mundane but always exemplary of basic social elements found all across cultures the volume argues that the way forward for this field lies not in the specialness of its object of study but instead the fact that thinking and acting as if something is special is itself an ordinary aspect of history and culture Making just this shift helps the scholar of religion to contribute to wide interdisciplinary conversations all across the Humanities and Social Sciences demonstrating the practical relevance of their work

Dynamics of Monotheism in Late Antiquity Guy G. Stroumsa, 2025-07-08 From early Christianity to the emergence of Islam the long late antiquity denotes a truly revolutionary period in the history of religions In many ways religious ritual patterns and theological worldviews were then radically transformed throughout the Near East and the Mediterranean In particular the traditional polytheistic systems collapsed giving way to various forms of monotheism and dualism In Dynamics of Monotheism in Late Antiquity Guy G Stroumsa seeks to analyze this multifaceted revolution as a whole rather than focusing as is usually the case on distinct religious communities and traditions such as Judaism Zoroastrianism Gnosticism Christianity Manichaeism and earliest Islam Many of the elements of religious change in our period can be perceived as a praeparatio coranica as it were as they set the scene for the advent of Islam The thrust of the book is to identify the key dynamics through which religious change happened in the kaleidoscope of religious conceptions The analysis emphasizes the dialectics between monotheist and dualist perceptions and systems It will also seek to identify the core elements of the Abrahamic religions in the making

Nature and Technology in the World Religions P. Koslowski, 2013-06-29 Technology and the control of nature have arisen from the endeavor to reduce the neediness of human life Since this reduction is also the goal of religions there is a necessary proximity between religion and technology The relationship of humans to nature and technology is an object of religious doctrine and ethics in all of the world's religions. The interpretations and the norms of the treatment of nature in economy and technology but also the veneration of nature in nature mysticism and its elevation in cult and sacrament are forms of expression of the relationship to nature in religions. The development of the modern control of nature through technology appears to be connected to the biblical commission to rule over nature. Buddhism and Hinduism however also interpret technology and human control of nature. Technological power raises the question of how the normativeness of the created order intended by religion's concept of creation relates to the human freedom to reshape creation. What answers do religions give to the question of the humane form of technology and the limits to technological power and human control of nature? Leading scholars of Judaism, Christianity, Islam, Hinduism and Buddhism have created with this volume a first hand source of information which enables the reader to gain a better understanding of these five world religions and their teachings on nature and technology.

The Making of a Mosque with Female Imams Jesper Petersen, 2022-09-26 In the last decade a number of women led mosques have emerged in Europe and North America. In The Making of a Mosque with Female Imams Jesper Petersen documents the serendipitous yet predictable emergence of the Mariam Mosque in Copenhagen. The study first demonstrates that individuals facing the unpredictable play a decisive role in social processes. This leads to an investigation of how serendipities are erased when narratives are erected retrospectively in the form of commodified products, autobiographical narratives and research. Furthermore, Petersen conceptualizes non-Muslims' theological productions of Islam, Islam without the worship of Allah so to speak, and demonstrates how this influences Muslim productions of Islam.
