

Great Expectations – Chapters 27, 28, 29

"MY DEAR MR PIP:—

"I write this by request of Mr. Gargery, for to let you know that he is going to London in company with Mr. Wopsle and would be glad if agreeable to be allowed to see you. He would call at Barnard's Hotel Tuesday morning at nine o'clock, when if not agreeable please leave word. Your poor sister is much the same as when you left. We talk of you in the kitchen every night, and wonder what you are saying and doing. If now considered in the light of a liberty, excuse it for the love of poor old days. No more, dear Mr. Pip, from "Your ever obliged, and affectionate servant, BIDDY."

"P.S. He wishes me most particular to write what larks. He says you will understand. I hope and do not doubt it will be agreeable to see him, even though a gentleman, for you had ever a good heart, and he is a worthy, worthy man. I have read him all, excepting only the last little sentence, and he wishes me most particular to write again what larks."

Read Biddy's letter to Pip.

In your circle, draw what Pip's face would look like having read this letter.

Explain why you drew Pip's face as you did.

Evaluate how Joe feels about Pip now. Provide evidence from the letter.

Aboriginal Education Marlene Brant Castellano, Lynne Davis, Louise Lahache, 2007-10-01 Education is at the heart of the struggle of Aboriginal peoples to regain control over their lives as communities and nations The promise of education is that it will instruct the people in ways to live long and well respecting the wisdom of their ancestors and fulfilling their responsibilities in the circle of life Aboriginal Education documents the significant gains in recent years in fulfilling this promise It also analyzes the institutional inertia and government policies that continue to get in the way The contributors to this book emphasize Aboriginal philosophies and priorities in teaching methods program design and institutional development An introductory chapter on policy discourse since 1966 provides a context for considering important achievements and constraints in transforming Aboriginal education into an instrument of self determination A number of the chapters are drawn from reports and papers prepared for the Royal Commission on Aboriginal Peoples as background to its 1996 report They cover a broad range of subjects educational practice from elementary to post secondary levels initiatives in language conservation and communications media the development of Aboriginal institutions and policy discourse among Aboriginal federal provincial and territorial bodies As the authors make clear Aboriginal education continues to be practised on an intensely political terrain While governments fund particular Aboriginal initiatives the homogenizing pressures of a globalizing society are relentless Political gains in negotiating self government thus establish the context in which the distinctiveness of Aboriginal education and cultures is sustained This book is a valuable resource for administrators educators and students with an interest in Aboriginal issues and educational reform Applied Sequential

Student Motivation Farideh Salili,Chi-yue Chiu,Ying-yi Hong,2012-12-06 Ever since the advent of the intelligence test we have thought of exceptional achievement in terms of cognitive attributes We have words and phrases like genius above average intelligence average and mentally deficient to describe different levels of cognitive ability In the United States widespread use of intelligence tests followed the success of the in World War I and for the next half century Army Alpha and Beta Tests intelligence tests were the major measures used to predict school and vocational achievement Learning was primarily studied in laboratories and the behaviorist theories that were dominant largely dealt with changes in overt behavior As a result there was relatively little influence of learning research on concepts involving cognition and intelligence The transition from behaviorism to cognitive psychology that began in the 1940 s and 50 s came into full flower in the 1970 s and 80 s and great progress was made in understanding learning memory and thinking In the decades following World War I there had been many debates about the possible influence of environmental conditions on intelligence but the cognitive abilities measured by intelligence tests were generally believed to be determined by heredity The intelligence tests of cognitive abilities correlated substantially with academic performance so their use in determining which students needed special help in school or which students were capable of university work was widely accepted As cognitive psychology became dominant it became apparent that although heredity was important intelligence consisted of learnable abilities
