Language Experiences Learning And Teaching Revisited:

Language Experiences Hadrian Lankiewicz, Emilia Wąsikiewicz-Firlej, 2014-04-11 This book is dedicated to the notion of languaging which has recently gained recognition across many disciplines From philosophy to linguistics the foundations of the concept rest on the assumption that language is a way of knowing making personal sense of the world becoming conscious of oneself and a means of creating one's identity The very notion of languaging is still a fresh and unexplored concept in applied linguistics and deserves careful scrutiny For this reason the volume is Local Languaging, Literacy and Multilingualism in a West African Society Kasper Juffermans, 2015-09-14 This book aims to enhance and challenge our understanding of language and literacy as social practice against the background of heightened globalisation Juffermans presents an ethnographic study of the linguistic landscape of The Gambia arguing that language should be conceptualised as a verb languaging rather than a countable noun a language languages He goes on to argue that sociolinguistics should not be defined as the study of who speaks what language to whom and when and to what end as Fishman defined it but as the study of who uses which linguistic features under particular circumstances in a particular place and time The book is therefore in part an exercise to unpluralise language which Juffermans argues is necessary for a more realistic understanding of what language is what it does and what people do with it The book will be of interest to sociolinguistics researchers especially those focusing on Africa and the global South

Mediation as Negotiation of Meanings, Plurilingualism and Language Education Bessie Dendrinos, 2024-06-04 Bringing together the voices of a diverse group of scholars and language professionals this edited collection concerned with the cultivation of plurilingualism in multilingual educational settings builds on the theory and practice of linguistic and cultural mediation both as curricular content and social practice The chapters view mediation as an important aspect of communication which involves dynamic purposeful interactivity implicating social agents in the negotiation and construction of socially situated meanings across different languages and within the same language Theoretically informed chapters present views on mediation as well as contributors' research and project outcomes in educational interventions They also describe how mediation has been incorporated in educational practices and how it materialises in social contexts Ultimately this book makes the case for why mediation constitutes a key competence to be developed for active global and local citizenry in today's societies where there is an increased rate of knowledge acquisition and exchange Presenting research from classrooms and other multilingual environments this book offers concrete suggestions for the development of language users' learners' ability to mediate within and across languages It will appeal to scholars, researchers and postgraduate students in the fields of language and education, education policy and politics, bilingualism and plurilingualism more generally Curriculum designers may also find the volume of use

Conference proceedings. ICT for language learning. 9th edition Pixel, 2016 Language Testing Reconsidered Janna Fox, Mari Wesche, Doreen Bayliss, Liying Cheng, Carolyn E. Turner, Christine Doe, 2007-06-01 Language Testing Reconsidered provides a critical update on major issues that have engaged the field of language testing since its inception Anyone who is working in studying or teaching language testing should have a copy of this book The information discussions and reflections offered within the volume address major developments within the field over the past decades enlivened by current takes on these issues The real value of this collection however lies in its consideration of the past as a means of defining the future agenda of language testing Published in English Educating Second Language Teachers Donald Freeman, 2016-09-27

Donald Freeman examines how core ideas and practices in educating second language teachers relate to and differ from teacher education in other content areas. He weaves together research in general and second language teacher education with accounts of experience and practice to examine how background knowledge is defined in language teaching. Throughout, Freeman demonstrates how understanding the processes of teacher learning, knowing, thinking, and reflecting are the same things done differently in second language teacher education. Educating Second Language Teachers reconsiders pre- and in-service teacher education and proposes a detailed, comprehensive design theory for teacher education. A masterful account of the landscape of second language teacher education and the development of its theoretical assumptions and practices, it offers a unique and original conceptualization of the field and will be an invaluable resource for teachers, teacher educators, and researchers.
