Wayne Miller, 2015-03-31 One of the world's leading neuroscientists teams up with an accomplished writer to debunk the popular left brain right brain theory and offer an exciting new way of thinking about our minds The second edition with expanded practical applications highlights how readers can harness the theory to succeed in their own lives For the past fifty years popular culture has led us to believe in the left brain vs right brain theory of personality types Right brain people we ve been told are artistic intuitive and thoughtful while left brain people tend to be more analytical logical and objective It would be an illuminating theory if it did not have one major drawback It is simply not supported by science Dr Stephen M Kosslyn who Steven Pinker calls one of the world's great cognitive neuroscientists explains with cowriter G Wayne Miller an exciting new theory of the brain Presenting extensive research in an inviting and accessible way Kosslyn and Miller describe how the human brain uses patterns of thought that can be identified and understood through four modes of thinking Mover Perceiver Stimulator and Adaptor These ways of thinking and behaving shape your personality and with the scientifically developed test provided in the book you ll quickly be able to determine which mode best defines your own usual style Once you ve identified your usual mode of thought the practical applications are limitless from how you work with others when you conduct business to your personal relationships to your voyage of self Communicating Genetics Han Yu, 2017-09-18 This book examines the visual representations used in the popular communication of genetics Drawing upon public science communication theories information design theories and social semiotics the book offers both in depth analyses and high level synthesis of how genetics is visualized for the U S public from the early 20th century to the present Individual chapters focus on six visual genres photographs micrographs illustrations genetic code images quantitative graphs and molecular structure images Han Yu challenges readers to consider the significance of these images we often take for granted including their historical contexts scientific backstories information richness stylistic choices economic motivations and social implications. In doing so the book reveals the complex cognitive affective and social cultural factors that both shape and are shaped by these images The book will be particularly useful to scholars of public science communication and visual communication practitioners of science communication and scientists from a range of related life science disciplines "Show Me what You Know" Bárbara M. Brizuela, Brian E. Gravel, 2013-04-08 Just like representations in everyday life this book shows that representations are ubiquitous to science technology engineering and mathematics the STEM disciplines Show Me What You Know showcases research on representations across a range of STEM disciplines and ages from children as young as 2 years of age to professional mathematicians The text highlights the importance of paying close attention to learners interpretations and productions of different representations as a source of evidence for what learners understand and another way for learners to show us what they know The text is organized around four themes appropriation of representations making meaning highlighting and representations as scaffold and supports The SAGE Handbook of Research Management Robert Dingwall, Mary Byrne McDonnell, 2015-08-17 The Handbook of Research Management is a unique tool for the newly promoted research leader Larger scale projects are becoming more common throughout the social sciences and humanities housed in centres institutes and programmes Talented researchers find themselves faced with new challenges to act as managers and leaders rather than as individual scholars They are responsible for the careers and professional development of others and for managing interactions with university administrations and external stakeholders Although many scientific and technological disciplines have long been organized in this way few resources have been created to help new leaders understand their roles and responsibilities and to reflect on their practice This Handbook has been created by the combined experience of a leading social scientist and a chief executive of a major international research development institution and funder The editors have recruited a truly global team of contributors to write about the challenges they have encountered in the course of their careers and to provoke readers to think about how they might respond within their own contexts This book will be a standard work of reference for new research leaders in any discipline or country looking for help and inspiration The editorial commentaries extend its potential use in support of training events or workshops where groups of new leaders can come together and explore the issues that are confronting them Better PowerPoint (R) Stephen Kosslyn, 2010-09-20 Giving good presentations is not just common sense Cognitive neuroscientist Stephen M Kosslyn shows how to make presentations work better based on how our brains work Where many books focus on how to create a first draft Better PowerPoint gives you guick steps to improve one you already have 8 key rules that are easy to remember and use Clear principles about how to design effective slides based on well established scientific data Quick steps to sharpen and strengthen your presentation Easy to use checklists guide you through each aspect of your presentation Chapters are structured to help you prioritize the most effective edits Memorable examples and illustrations to show what works and what doesn t Lessons in what to fix can also help you create better first drafts faster If you have a PowerPoint presentation that is not giving you the results you want take advantage of what scientific research can tell you about how your audience is seeing and thinking about what you have Assessing Student Outcomes - Why, Who, What, How? J. Fredericks Volkwein, 2011-11-22 This volume offers administrators and practitioners a summary guide to assessment in higher education from the reasons for undertaking assessment to the delivery of findings It opens with the questions that precede an effective study and drive research design To what extent is the study aimed at educational improvement and to what extent is it aimed at external accountability Are the results expected to demonstrate goal attainment improvement comparison to others meeting standards cost effective investment What is the population from whom assessment data are being collected Are we measuring the knowledge and skills of individuals and making decisions about their remediation certification or development Or are we sampling from particular groups of students and comparing them to each other or perhaps to themselves over time. The core of the volume is devoted to the objects of assessment basic skills general education knowledge attainment in the major personal growth attitudes and satisfaction and alumni outcomes keeping in mind both cognitive and noncognitive measures One chapter describes common obstacles to effective assessment others describe conceptual models research methods and data collection strategies and instruments The concluding chapter underscores the importance of communicating research results effectively This is a special volume of the Jossey Bass higher education quarterly report series New Directions for Institutional Research Always timely and comprehensive New Directions for Institutional Research provides planners and administrators in all types of academic institutions with guidelines in such areas as resource coordination information analysis program evaluation and institutional management Design for Information Isabel Meirelles, 2013-10 Design for Information provides a series of visualizations that are analyzed for their design principles and methods This book provides critical and analytical tools that benefit the design process Memory and Technology Jason R.
