the Relevance of Guerrilla Marketing to Small and Medium-sized Enterprises Benjamin Bach, 2007-12 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2006 in the subject Business economics Marketing Corporate Communication CRM Market Research Social Media grade 1 9 University of Lincoln Faculty of Business an unconventional way of promotional marketing activities on a low budget level This aggressive marketing approach is characterised by creative and legal attacks targeted on competitors in order to maintain or increase awareness and impact to the customer Guerrilla marketing stands for focusing on conventional goals such as profit or growth but doing it by using exceptional promotional approaches like advertising in yellow pages wild postings or non traditional outdoor advertising media vehicles Customers are confronted with an increasing amount of advertising messages per day and therefore organisations have to develop advertising approaches to stand out in today's media fragmentation. Especially small and medium sized enterprises are having greater internal limitations regarding a restricted budget for marketing communications and facing bigger external uncertainties than large organisations. Thus marketing campaigns have to become profitable for an enterprise. The low cost communication effort is one of the major issues for guerrilla marketers. It is particularly relevant for a small company to apply a differentiated set of promotional methods to diversify itself from competition but guerrilla marketing is also becoming more adopted by large enterprises. This dissertation aims to give the reader a complementary insight of guerrilla marketing and investigates its relevance for a small and medium sized enterprise (SME) in terms of generating profit. The purpose of this study is to identify how relevant this approach is to guerrilla entrepreneurs in small organisations regarding profitability and flexibility in respect of strategy.
