DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY AND THE AIR FORCE
JANUARY 1998

1. Section 1: Introduction
 This document is a report on the results of the survey conducted in the year 2000. The survey was conducted in order to determine the level of awareness of the general public regarding the importance of environmental protection. The results of the survey are presented in the following sections.

2. Section 2: Methodology
 The survey was conducted using a random sampling method. A total of 1000 respondents were selected from a list of names obtained from the local government office. The survey was conducted in a face-to-face interview format. The questions were asked in a structured manner, and the responses were recorded.

3. Section 3: Results
 The results of the survey are presented in the following table. The table shows the percentage of respondents who answered each question correctly.

| Question | Correct Answer | Percentage of Correct Answers |
|---------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------|
| 1. Is environmental protection important? | Yes | 95% |
| 2. What are the main causes of environmental pollution? | Industrial activities, transportation, and household waste | 85% |
| 3. What are the main consequences of environmental pollution? | Global warming, acid rain, and ozone depletion | 75% |
| 4. What are the main ways to reduce environmental pollution? | Using public transportation, recycling, and conserving energy | 65% |

4. Section 4: Conclusion
 The results of the survey indicate that the general public is aware of the importance of environmental protection. However, there is still a need for further education and awareness-raising efforts. The local government should consider implementing programs to educate the public on environmental protection.

5. Section 5: Recommendations
 Based on the results of the survey, the following recommendations are made:

- The local government should implement a public awareness campaign on environmental protection.
- The local government should provide more information on environmental protection to the public.
- The local government should encourage the public to use public transportation and recycle.

6. Section 6: References
 The following references were used in the preparation of this report:

- Local government office, 2000. List of names of residents.
- Environmental Protection Agency, 2000. Environmental protection: A guide for the public.

7. Section 7: Appendix
 The following appendix is included in this report:

- Appendix A: Survey questions and answers.
- Appendix B: List of respondents.

8. Section 8: Acknowledgments
 The author would like to thank the local government office for providing the list of names of residents. The author would also like to thank the respondents for their participation in the survey.

9. Section 9: Contact Information
 The author can be contacted at the following address:

10. Section 10: Disclaimer
 The author disclaims any liability for the results of the survey. The results of the survey are only for informational purposes and should not be used for any other purpose.
