Library Programs and Services G. Edward Evans, Margaret Zarnosky Saponaro, Holland Christie, Carol Sinwell, 2015-06-30 Covering every essential topic ranging from circulation and literacy instruction to reference and security this benchmark text provides an up to date broadly based view of library public service and its functions Supplying essential foundational reading for students of library public services as well as an up to date overview for practitioners who wish to refresh their knowledge or acquaint themselves with a new area of responsibility this book's broad and solid coverage will benefit anyone concerned with developing or maintaining the public face of the library A revision and expansion of Libraries Unlimited's Introduction to Library Public Services Seventh Edition this edition has new chapters covering such topics as e resources collections print and other media and facilities and funding Additionally every chapter has been substantially updated and reorganized to better reflect the role of technology in library services today The book begins with background information on public services in libraries and an analysis of the library's public service philosophy. Then the authors delve into staffing and assessment of services moving logically to major functional areas of public services: reference, instruction, document delivery, circulation, and reserves, collections, programming, safety, and security issues, and facilities and funding. Real life anecdotes from public, academic, and school libraries illustrate principles and concepts throughout the book. For each topic, the authors detail its role and philosophy and offer key points to remember, references, and lists for further reading.

Including Families of Children with Special Needs Carrie Scott

Banks, Sandra Feinberg, Barbara A. Jordan, Kathleen Deerr, Michelle Langa, 2014. More than 6.5 million children in the US receive special education services; in any given community, approximately one child out of every six will get speech therapy, go to counseling, attend classes exclusively with other children with disabilities, or receive some other service that allows him or her to learn. This new revised edition is a step-by-step guide to serving children and youth with disabilities, as well as the family members, caregivers, and other people involved in their lives. The authors show how staff can enable full use of the library's resources by integrating the methods of educators, medical and psychological therapists, social workers, librarians, parents, and other caregivers. Widening the scope to address the needs of teens, as well as preschool and school-age children, this edition also discusses the needs of Spanish-speaking children with disabilities and their families, looking at cultural competency, as well as Spanish language resources. Enhanced with checklists, stories based on real experiences, descriptions of model programs and resources, and an overview of appropriate internet sites and services, this book gives thorough consideration to Partnering and collaborating with parents and other professionals; Developing special collections and resources; Assessing competencies and skills; Principles underlying family-centered services and resource-based practices; The interrelationship of early intervention, special education, and library service. This manual will prove valuable not only to children's services librarians, outreach librarians, and library administrators, but also to early intervention and family support professionals, early childhood and special educators, childcare workers, daycare and after-school program providers, and policymakers.

Independent Thinking on Emotional Literacy Richard Evans, 2020-11-10 Written by Richard Evans Independent Thinking on Emotional Literacy A passport to increased confidence engagement and learning shares an approach that will help educators boost their pupils emotional literacy with the broader aim of nurturing a more grounded engaged and intrinsically motivated child Foreword by Ian Gilbert Do teachers truly understand their pupils And do the pupils themselves really understand their own needs In Independent Thinking on Emotional Literacy Richard Evans reminds every school educator that behind every child is a set of circumstances so entwined and within them a set of emotions so involved that to ignore them is to be complicit in any educational failings experienced by that child Richard equips educators with a collaborative passport template designed to improve pupils emotional literacy and promote discussion of the often unspoken issues that prevent children from making progress at school It enables staff to steer young people to greater emotional understanding of themselves so that they can better manage their route through the school system Furthermore Richard provides a detailed tutorial as he walks you through the subtleties and wide ranging possibilities of its use Colour copies of the passport are also made available for free download as a complimentary feature of the book If the passport is aimed at anyone adult or child it s those not altogether happy with the system those not convinced it provides as much breadth and meaning as it could and who sense that education is as much about the acquisition of self knowledge as it is about that of knowledge per se Ultimately the result of the enterprise is deeper understanding whether it s of the girl who falls asleep at the back the boy who needs constant support or those pupils who need extra careful attention at parents evening Suitable for all educators in both primary and secondary settings
