Scent Elise Vernon Pearlstine, 2022-01-01 A fascinating exploration of the natural history of scent and human perceptions of fragrance from the viewpoint of plant and pollinator An evocative journey that awakens one s curiosity to an oft forgotten sense Dana Dunham Scientific American Plants have long harnessed the chemical characteristics of aromatic compounds to shape the world around them Frankincense resin from the genus Boswellia seals injured tissues and protects trees from invading pathogens Jasmine produces a molecule called linalool that attracts pollinating moths with its flowery scent Tobacco uses a similarly sweet smelling compound called benzyl acetone to attract pollinators Only recently in the evolutionary history of plants however have humans learned to co opt their fragrances to seduce heal protect and alter moods themselves In this wide ranging and accessible new book biologist turned perfumer Elise Vernon Pearlstine turns our human centered perception of fragrance on its head and investigates plants evolutionary reasons for creating aromatic molecules Delving into themes of spirituality wealth power addiction royalty fantasy and more Pearlstine uncovers the natural history of aromatic substances and their intersection with human culture and civilization

Aromatic Plants Amit Baran Sharangi, 2021 The history of aroma and fragrance dates back through several ages and civilizations The sagacity of smell plays a remarkable role for human beings to recognize food Best fruits can be judged when they are ripe and fit for consumption emitting lovely smell or aroma The same attribute from flowers attracts insects leading to cross pollination India has enjoyed a paramount place in the fabrication of quality perfumes and aromatics since the prehistoric era The celebrated Chinese voyager Fa Hien described India as the land of aromatic plants Indian cities like Delhi Agra Kannauj Lucknow Jaunpur Ghazipur Aligarh Bharatpur Mysore and Hyderabad emerged as centers of national and international trade in perfumery and other aromatic compounds and were known for their quality across Asia Europe and Africa Aromatic plants precisely possess odorous volatile substances in root wood bark stem foliage flower and fruit The typical aroma is due to an assortment of composite chemical compounds At present information on the chemistry and properties of essential oils of only about 500 aromatic plants species is known in some detail out of a total of about 1500 Of these about 50 species find use as commercial source of essential oils and aroma chemicals It is realized now that perfumes are not the essentials of sumptuousness as they were in the past It has given birth to new streams of medicinal therapy aromatherapy involving the use of essential oils and aromatics derived from plants to treat diseases Essential oils are also reported to be better than antibiotics due to their safety and broad spectrum activity Natural essential oils are also potentially safe insecticides The essential oil obtained from Acorus calamus having  $\alpha$ -asarone as an active principle produces sterility among a variety of insects of either sex It has therefore been found very useful and secure for the storage of food grains However there is still very inadequate research for the cultivation of aromatic crops and extraction of essential oils across the globe This book has been designed to highlight the associated issues of aromatic plants including the aspects of their classification importance uses and applications for human wellbeing botany agrotechniques major bioactive constituents post harvest extraction chemistry and biochemistry of aroma compounds along with an informative modern global research on these plants throughout the world I hope this book will cater the scholastic services reward diverse professionals and stakeholders and serve as an informative handbook for theoretical as well as practical purposes
