It is not possible to tell whether the α is a constant that is the same for all countries. Indeed, because it is possible that the relative size of the two groups of firms in each country may differ, the α may vary across countries. This would imply that the α is a function of the country, $\alpha = \alpha_i$.

1. The first movement played only once followed by the second for about 15 minutes.
2. During breaks from movement, students discuss their experience with their partner and journal a page each. In journal entries you should include the time, date, weather, and location of a "good" feeling that occurred in that session.
3. How does listening make you feel better?
4. Share your story. How does your own experience compare to the 100,000 that have been told in the United States and around the world? How do they differ from yours?
5. After a few days the class should be able to read and understand each movement. If it is not, then students should be asked to read the entire movement again and possibly be asked to read the full text of the movement. If it is not understood, reading and listening. At this time the teacher is free to ask questions of the class if there are any and to change the movement.
6. When asked what is to be learned and what steps have been taken to learn it, the class should be able to read the full text of the movement and be able to read the full text of the movement.
