Islam and Secular Citizenship in the Netherlands, United Kingdom, and

France Carolina Ivanescu, 2016-04-08 The past several years have seen many examples of friction between secular European societies and religious migrant communities within them This study combines ethnographic work in three countries The Netherlands the United Kingdom and France with a new theoretical frame regimes of secularity Its mission is to contribute to an understanding of minority identity construction in secular societies In addition to engaging with academic literature and ethnographic research the book takes a critical look at three cities three nation contexts and three grassroots forms of Muslim religious collective organization comparing and contrasting them from a historical perspective Carolina Ivanescu offers a thorough theoretical grounding and tests existing theories empirically Beginning from the idea that religion and citizenship are both crucial aspects of the state s understanding of Muslim identities she demonstrates the relevance of collective identification processes that are articulated through belonging to geographical and ideological entities These forms of collective identification and minority management Ivanescu asserts are configuring novel possibilities for the place of religion in the modern social world

Defending Democracy and Securing Diversity Christian Leuprecht, 2013-09-13

Old sergeants say we re here to defend democracy not to practice it But are they right The special mandate with which defence and security organizations are tasked imposes unique constraints with respect to the accommodation of diversity which differs from those faced by any other public or private organization Yet the compound effect of demographic political economic social and legal pressures is making diversity as inevitable in the defence and security sector as in any other organization in advanced industrialized democracies Owing in part to a dearth of research on the way the defence and security sectors can leverage diversity to enhance their functional imperatives such sectors have been reticent about diversity The chapters in this volume strive to enlighten the debate by laying out the concepts clarifying theoretical issues and providing empirical evidence The case studies draw on Canada Guyana the Netherlands South Africa and the United Kingdom They examine ethno cultural gender and sexual minority diversity in a variety of missions including Bosnia Herzegovina and Afghanistan The chapters are notable for their methodological pluralism and interdisciplinary range including political science sociology anthropology and psychology Although scholarly in nature the book is readily accessible to professionals and practitioners alike This book was published as a special issue of Commonwealth and Comparative Politics
