Ehrenberg, Charlotte V. Kuh, 2011-05-02 American colleges and universities simultaneously face large numbers of faculty retirements and expanding enrollments Budget constraints have led colleges and universities to substitute part time and full time non tenure track faculty for tenure track faculty and the demand for faculty members will likely be high in the decade ahead This heightened demand is coming at a time when the share of American college graduates who go on for PhD study is far below its historic high The declining interest of American students in doctoral programs is due to many factors including long completion times low completion rates the high cost of doctoral education and the decline in the share of faculty positions that are tenured or on the tenure track In short doctoral education is in crisis because the impediments are many and the rewards are few students often choose instead to enroll in professional programs that result in more marketable credentials In Doctoral Education and the Faculty of the Future scientists social scientists academic administrators and policy makers describe their efforts to increase and improve the supply of future faculty They cover topics ranging from increasing undergraduate interest in doctoral study to improving the doctoral experience and the participation of underrepresented groups in doctoral education Congressional Record United States. Growing Readers Kathy Collins,2023-10-10 Primary grade teachers face an important challenge teaching children how to read while enabling them to build good habits so they fall in love with reading Many teachers find the independent reading workshop to be the component of reading instruction that meets this challenge because it makes it possible to teach the reading skills and strategies children need and guides them toward independence intention and joy as readers In

Growing Readers Kathy Collins helps teachers plan for independent reading workshops in their own classrooms She describes the structure of the independent reading workshop and other components of a balanced literacy program that work together to ensure young students grow into strong well rounded readers Kathy outlines a sequence of possible units of study for a yearlong curriculum Chapters are devoted to the individual units of study and include a sample curriculum as well as examples of mini lessons and reading conferences There are also four Getting Ready sections that suggest some behind the scenes work teachers can do to prepare for the units Topics explored in these units include print and comprehension strategies reading in genres such as poetry and nonfiction connecting in school reading and out of school reading developing the strategies and habits of lifelong readers A series of planning sheets and management tips are presented throughout to help ensure smooth implementation We want our students to learn to read and we want them to love to read To do this we need to lay a foundation on which children build rich and purposeful reading lives that extend beyond the school day The ideas found in Growing Readers create the kind of primary classrooms where that happens

Playing on an Uneven Field

Yuya Kiuchi,2019-06-14 We expect sports to be fair and equal everyone who tries out has a chance to play and everyone who plays hard has a chance to win But is that really true In reality female athletes are paid far less than their male counterparts Youth sports often cost too much for many families to participate in African American athletes continue to face discrimination both on and off the field Adaptive sports are considered to be only for those with disabilities But there are signs of progress as sports organizations try to promote equality and fairness This study explores the intricacies of inclusion and exclusion in sports
