The Necromantic State Irina R Troconis, 2025-02-21 In the spring of 2013 television across Venezuela announced the death of then president Hugo Ch vez leader of the Bolivarian Revolution and key political actor in Latin America s turn to the left Ch vez s death however was not the end of Ch vez s life In The Necromantic State Irina R Troconis examines how Ch vez as a specter has lingered in Venezuela s public private and digital spaces Focusing on contemporary Venezuela and drawing from a diverse corpus that includes tattoos toys memes graffiti and a hologram haunting the streets of downtown Caracas Troconis contends that in moments of failed transitions political tensions and crises of legitimacy the state brings the dead back to life to negotiate the terms of its survival By showing how this necromantic performance enables the state s material and visual manifestations in public and private spaces Troconis untangles a sociopolitical moment in which the ghostly acts as the affective social and political force that grounds state authority and ensures the preservation of the status quo as it circumscribes acts of political imagination and limits popular resistance

Socialist Senses Emma Widdis, 2017-09-11 Widdis s rich and fascinating book has opened a new perspective from which to think about the Soviet cinema Kritika This major reimagining of the history of Soviet film and its cultural impact explores the fundamental transformations in how film through the senses remade the Soviet self in the 1920s and 1930s Following the Russian Revolution there was a shared ambition for a sensory revolution to accompany political and social change Soviet men and women were to be reborn into a revitalized relationship with the material world Cinema was seen as a privileged site for the creation of this sensory revolution Film could both discover the world anew and model a way of inhabiting it Drawing upon an extraordinary array of films noted scholar Emma Widdis shows how Soviet cinema as it evolved from the revolutionary avant garde to Socialist Realism gradually shifted its materialist agenda from emphasizing the external senses to instilling the appropriate internal senses consciousness emotions in the new Soviet subject Illinois Rural Electric News ,1974 Century of the Child Juliet Kinchin,Aidan O'Connor,2012 The book examines individual and collective visions for the material world of children from utopian dreams for the citizens of the future to the dark realities of political conflict and exploitation Surveying more than 100 years of toys clothing playgrounds schools children s hospitals nurseries furniture posters animation and books this richly illustrated catalogue illuminates how progressive design has enhanced the physical intellectual and emotional development of children and conversely how models of children s play have informed experimental aesthetics and imaginative design thinking Los Angeles Magazine ,2003-11 Los Angeles magazine is a regional magazine of national stature Our combination of award winning feature writing investigative reporting service journalism and design covers the people lifestyle culture entertainment fashion art and architecture and news that define Southern California Started in the spring of 1961 Los Angeles magazine has been addressing the needs and interests of our region for 48 years The magazine continues to be the definitive resource for an affluent population that is intensely interested in a lifestyle that is uniquely Southern Californian Toy-Making in School and Home M.
