Congress. House. Committee on Small Business. Subcommittee on Empowerment,1998 A hearing was held before the Subcommittee on Empowerment of the House Committee on Small Business to build a record of a lot of things that are working in urban education in high risk zones In his opening remarks Representative Souder Indiana noted that there is no question but that the best way to combat unemployment and the problems that flow from it is to provide people with the best possible training For most of the work force training begins in school Strengthening basic skills is not exclusively an urban problem but it is one that is of particular concern in the cities The purpose of this hearing was not why so many schools are failing but why some succeed Five educators who run successful urban schools appeared at the hearing to explain why their schools work Thaddeus S Lott Sr principal of a charter school district in Houston Texas described the experiences of a successful elementary school that used an intensive reading program beginning in kindergarten and direct instruction to raise academic achievement Vera White principal of a junior high school in the District of Columbia achieved academic success with a program that focused on student learning and high expectations and that was supported in a partnership with COMSAT Comments by hearing participants follow these statements In the second panel discussion of the hearing Oscar J Underwood headmaster of a Christian college preparatory school Indiana spoke about the importance of the educational environment and teacher attitudes Leah White administrator of an urban Christian school Maryland noted the importance of promoting parent participation and the importance of an atmosphere focused on learning William Elliott headmaster of a Christian academy in Philadelphia Pennsylvania emphasized the importance of good relationships between teachers and students and the importance of accountability and high standards Comments from panelists completed the hearing An appendix contains the prepared statements of the panelists and a letter from Governor George Bush Texas about Dr Lott s Houston school SLD

Research in Education ,1974 Condition or Process? Researching Race in Education Adrienne D. Dixon,Gloria J. Ladson-Billings,Cecilia E. Suarez,William T. Trent,James D. Anderson,2021-01-18 The question of why we need to think about how we research race demands a conceptualization of race that captures both its social construction and its temporal evolution We need both an understanding of race and clarity about how we talk about it in our design and conduct of research and in how we interpret and apply it in our findings As a field we can use research on race and racism in education to help construct social change Our purpose with this volume is to underscore the persistence of the discriminatory actions processes and the normalization of the use of race and class conditions to justify the existing and growing disparity between the quality of life and opportunity for middle class and more affluent Whites and that for people of color and people of color who live in poverty As editors of this volume we wonder what more we could learn and understand about the process and condition of race if we dare to ask bold questions about race and racism and commit to methods and analyses that respect the experiences and knowledges of our research participants and partners
