In View of Academic Careers and Career-Making Scholars Victor N. Shaw, 2008-03-01

This volume connects career making to the general social context in which it takes place careermaking individuals to the large institutional establishment in which they operate and specifically career academicians to the overall knowledge enterprise from which they draw their intellectual inspiration on which they build their career achievements and to which they contribute their personal talents The main purpose is to explore what academic institutions the knowledge enterprise and the society as a whole can and ought to do to enhance productivity facilitate performance and improve experience of individual academicians in their career making endeavor Although various innovative ideas are presented to improve normal procedures or standard processes throughout academia answers to this focal question often lie in different levels of organizational units involved in academic operation That is what should a department do for its faculty a college for its departments a university for its colleges an association for its member organizations or a government for its academic institutions in the best interest of the latter Similarly although reformative measures are proposed to the attention of established entities or institutionalized systems change within the existing situation or practice to a large degree depends upon how people in various social roles relate to each other in attitude as well as in behavior when they perform their specific job In other words what should a professor do for graduate students a senior scholar for junior colleagues a chair for faculty members a dean for chairs a university chancellor for deans an editor for authors or an association president for the general membership from the due perspective of the latter The logic or legitimacy of examining this focal question and its organizational unit and social role is clear a shining academician owes much to the support of his or her assistants students and followers a rising university builds on the productivity of its individual divisions and a thriving knowledge enterprise depends upon the success of individual career making scholars Beyond its own functionality and success by division of labor the higher level or the larger system has an inescapable responsibility to ensure that individual players or components therein grow develop and perform to the best of their potential In content this volume consists of sixteen chapters Chapter 1

identifies main pathways and stages in academic careers Chapters 2-5 focuses on the career process exploring major requirements that an academician has to work on and fulfill in his or her career making endeavor These requirements include educational preparation job search institutional placement and professional networking Chapters 6-15 centers on the career structure examining essential elements that a scholar has to build and maintain in his or her career identity These elements range from the academic degree position publication teaching presentation service grants awards and membership in academic associations to tenure The last chapter capitalizes on the curriculum vitae as a miniature of the academic personality that a career professional must present to the community of scholarship

Lopsided Schools Gerard Giordano, 2011-01-16 Lopsided Schools introduces readers to the case method and helps the reader to use the case method to examine the scholastic challenges that critics posed from World War I to the present Some critics have stirred up educators with threats to reduce their budgets or fire them Others upset them with disconcerting questions Should parents demand that their children learn speed reading Should teachers emphasize vocational activities Should principals train their own successors Should superintendents award bonuses to teachers Should employers hire the graduates with the highest scores on standardized tests Should politicians assume greater responsibility for schooling Should journalists publicize information about lopsided schools This book examines these and the numerous other questions that critics posed

Being a Researcher Carlo Ghezzi, 2020-06-22 This book explores research from the researchers perspective why to engage in research what methods to follow how to operate in daily life what the responsibilities are how to engage with society and the ethical issues confronting professionals in their day to day research The book systematically discusses what every student should be told when entering academic or industrial research so that they can avoid going through the painful process of learning by personal experience and lots of errors Rather than being technical it is philosophical and sometimes even anecdotal combining factual information and commonly accepted knowledge on research and its methods while at the same time clearly distinguishing between objective and factual concepts and data and subjective considerations The book is about scientific research in general and as such holds true for any scientific field. However, it is fair to say that the different fields differ in their research cultures and in their ecosystems. The book reflects the author's experience accumulated over almost 50 years of teaching graduate courses and lecturing in doctoral symposia at Politecnico di Milano, University of Zurich, TU Wien, Peking University, and at various conferences and of academic research in informatics, also known as computer science. This book is mainly intended for students who are considering research as a possible career option, for in-progress researchers who have entered doctoral programs, and for junior postdoctoral researchers. It will also appeal to senior researchers involved in mentoring students and junior researchers.

The 18th International Conference Interdisciplinarity in Engineering Liviu Moldovan, Adrian Gligor, 2025-03-02. This book contains research papers that were accepted for presentation at the 18th International Conference on Interdisciplinarity in Engineering INTER ENG 2024, which was held on 3-4 October 2024 in the city of Targu Mures, Romania. The general scope of the conference: An effective digital green transition for a more competitive European industry is proposing a new approach related to the development of a new generation of smart factories grounded on the manufacturing and assembly process digitalization. It is related to advanced manufacturing technology, lean manufacturing, sustainable manufacturing, additive manufacturing, manufacturing tools and equipment. It is a leading international professional and scientific forum of great interest for engineers and scientists who can read in this book research works, contributions, and recent developments, as well as current practices in advanced fields of engineering.

A Concise Guide to Communication in Science and Engineering David H. Foster, 2017-10-27. Success in scientific and engineering research depends on effective writing and presentation. The purpose of this guide is to help the reader achieve that goal. It enables students and researchers to write and present material to a professional, modern standard efficiently and painlessly and with maximum impact. The approach is not prescriptive. Rather, the emphasis is on a logical approach to communication informed by what needs to be achieved, what works in practice, and what interferes with success. Over 400 examples of good and bad writing and graphing are presented. Each is from a published research article and is accompanied by analysis, comment, and correction where needed. Journal reviewers' critiques of submitted manuscripts are included to illustrate common pitfalls. Above all, this is a how-to book, comprehensive but concise, suitable for continuous study or quick reference. Checklists at the end of each chapter enable the reader to test the readiness of a dissertation, journal submission, or conference presentation for assessment or review. Although oriented towards engineering and the physical and life sciences, it is also relevant to other areas including behavioural and clinical sciences and medicine.

A Doctorate and Beyond Graham C. Goodwin, Stefan F. Graebe, 2016-10-27. A book that takes you through and beyond your doctoral studies. It will be a valuable reference throughout your working life. Drawing on their own extensive experience, the authors pass on invaluable advice by answering such questions as: Do I want to do a doctorate? How should I choose which doctorate and where to study? How do I achieve my doctorate? What career opportunities exist once I've completed my doctorate? What is the role of networking leadership and reputation in building my career How do I go about mentoring the next generation What do I do when things don't go to plan This practical guide helps you to determine your best answer to all these questions and more The authors not only discuss how to become a success but also how to keep success going beginning with the choice to do a doctorate or not and what to expect through how to get the best from student supervisor interaction the value of networking the process of publication how to choose between a career in academia or industry while achieving work life balance The authors own thoughts are enriched by the life experiences of many colleagues and prominent individuals who have achieved success and recognition the book contains inspirational quotes from established figures in academia and industry They reflect on career options what leads to a successful career and how to make conscious career choices instead of letting things happen and hoping for the best This ranges from avoiding common pitfalls such as squandering your reputation to developing that all important energy your personal passion A Doctorate and Beyond will be an extra difference in making the most of the best times and will support you when the going gets tough If you are contemplating doctoral studies in engineering or the physical sciences or have a doctorate and are seeking career guidance this book will change the way you think about life For further discussion and information about the book please see the blog forum hosted by the authors at <http://adoctorateandbeyond.com>
