Service-Learning Capacity

Enhancement in Hong Kong Higher Education Grace Ngai, Daniel T.L. Shek, 2022-08-17 This book provides an in depth multi faceted look into capacity building for service learning using the case of the higher education landscape in Hong Kong Service learning has been proven to be an effective pedagogy for the holistic development of students as well as promotion of their well being It also attempts to promote the well being of the service recipients and the community While service learning is becoming increasingly popular in many higher educational institutions around the world the learning gains that can be attained from service learning are only as good as the learning experience allows and poorly developed or motivated service learning may potentially do adverse harm to students and the community This book reinforces the imperative to enhance the capacity of the institution teachers students and community partners by exploring a diverse range of methods for achieving capacity building among different stakeholders Examples of the methods explored include formal course based professional development scale development action research and communities of practice Furthermore the book includes a series of detailed qualitative case studies that are aimed at embodying good practice unpacking what matters from service learning As a useful resource for scholars and educators who are passionate about holistic youth leadership development this book is also relevant to researchers in the intersection between well being and higher education

Revolutionizing Development

Andrea Cornwall, Ian Scoones, 2022-03-28 This book tells the story of development studies in practice over the last fifty years through the work of one remarkable individual Robert Chambers His work has taken him from being a colonial officer in Kenya through training and managing large rural development projects to a fundamental critique of top down development and the championing of participatory approaches The contributors eloquently demonstrate how he has been at the centre of major shifts in development thinking and practice over this period popularising terms that are now at the centre of the development lexicon such as vulnerability multi dimensional poverty sustainable livelihoods and farmer first Robert Chambers played a major role in the massive growth in participatory approaches to development and particularly the application of participatory methods in development research and appraisal This has led to fundamental challenges to development practice ranging from approaches to monitoring and evaluation to institutional learning and professional training There is probably no one who has had more influence on approaches to development in the past decades Revolutionizing Development offers a unique overview of these contributions in thirty two concise chapters from authors who have been intimately involved as collaborators critics and colleagues of Robert Chambers
