The first, and most important, of the transformations, which the mind undergoes in the process of thought, is the transformation of the given material into a form which is suitable for the purpose of the thought. This transformation is effected by the process of abstraction, which is the process of separating the essential from the accidental, and of retaining only the essential. The second transformation is the process of judgment, which is the process of comparing the abstracted material with the concepts of the mind, and of determining whether or not they agree. The third transformation is the process of reasoning, which is the process of drawing conclusions from the judgments. The fourth transformation is the process of method, which is the process of arranging the results of the thought in a systematic order.

The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a exceptional and thrilling novel that will keep you speculating until the very end. The novel is a cautionary tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
