study to examine the unexpected ways that Afro Cubans are practicing collective agency going against the logics of more conventional registers of black identity politics I use La Articulaci n Regional Afrodescendiente de Am rica Lat na y el Caribe Cap tulo Cuba ARAC as an analytical counterpoint to represent a more conventional pursuit of sociopolitical gains by black identity politics in Cuba today Of central interest is how the sacred figures within cultural politics to gain greater sociopolitical and economic autonomy and how gender operates within their political imaginaries using a critical race feminist and performance oriented lens The ethnography makes the case for different ways of performing black autonomy in Cuba correlating to particular metrics of politics drawn from collective memories of group struggle These different forms of self organization correspond to distinct spheres of influence and distinct limits on their collective reach and agency Furthermore the research demonstrates the utility of performance studies for furthering the understanding of social processes by making visible the political horizon of black identity politics in embodied motion This analysis of black collective agency in the face of political economic marginalization speaks directly to the importance of local practices of self determination as sources of knowledge production about the limits of cultural politics endorsed by the state the sacred and gendered valences of black identity politics and the impact of national development on black lives
