Administrative Register of Kentucky ,2006      Teacher Journeys Rita Gilbert Greer EdD,2020-04-24 Where you live does not define who you are or who you can be Those were the words of a wise woman who did not know that she was a teacher or that her words would be remembered and passed on to future generations long after she died However this wise woman did know that to make her belief come to fruition education was the key For many African Americans who travelled life s highway during the twentieth century caring teachers were their guiding star their map their GPS and their light through the tunnel Teachers gave students confidence hope determination knowledge and a feeling of yes you can In this book the author rejects the idea that anybody can teach and provides clear distinct criteria for anyone thinking about teaching as a career The stories she shares also serve as a thank you to all of America s teachers Discover how African American teachers have inspired students to succeed and pay it forward with the remarkable stories in Teacher Journeys We must have outstanding teachers in today s schools Expectations are key to student performance and teacher success If teachers have realistic expectations our kids will try to live up to them No child wants to be a failure and no good teacher wants their students to fail Daisy R Wright Teacher Without knowledge and skills opportunities cease The burden of developing and imparting the knowledge and skills has been placed squarely upon teachers regardless of how unfair and lopsided it seems If anyone is thinking about becoming a teacher he or she must understand that this profession makes the biggest imprint of any occupation in society Verna Cahoon Principal      Primary Mathematics Pedagogy at the Intersection of Education Reform, Policy, and Culture Sarah Murray,Princess Allotey,2021-11-29 This volume provides an in depth comparative examination of how primary mathematics education is influenced by national education reform policy local resources and culture in three different countries By drawing on first hand observations and interviews as well as analysis of policy documents and learning resources the book considers the viability of transferring best practices in primary mathematics education across global contexts Three diverse countries Ghana the US and Singapore are explored Similarities and differences are highlighted and the influence of national and regional initiatives related to pedagogical strategies teacher education and cultural expectations are considered to offer an insightful examination of how best practices might be shared across borders This book will benefit researchers academics and postgraduate scholars with an interest in international and comparative education mathematics and educational policy Those with a specialization in primary mathematics education including pedagogy and teacher preparation will also benefit from this book      Resources in Education ,2001-04

Assessment for Experiential Learning Cecilia Ka Yuk Chan,2022-09-29 Chan s book explores the challenges in assessing experiential learning deepens our understanding and inspires readers to think critically about the purpose of assessment in experiential learning Experiential learning has been studied and proven to be effective for student learning particularly for the development of holistic competencies i e 21st century skills soft skills transferable skills considered essential for individuals to succeed in the increasingly global and technology infused 21st century society Universities around the world are now actively organising experiential learning activities or programmes for students to gain enriching and diversified learning experiences however the assessment of these programmes tends to be limited unclear and contested Assessment plays a central role in education policies and students approach to learning But do educators know how to assess less traditional learning such as service learning entrepreneurship cross discipline or cross cultural projects internships and student exchanges While the current assessment landscape is replete with assessments that measure knowledge of core content areas such as mathematics law languages science and social studies there is a lack of assessments and research that focus on holistic competencies How do we assess students ability to think critically problem solve adapt self manage and collaborate Central to the discussion in this book is the reason students are assessed and how they should be assessed to bring out their best learning outcomes Offering a collection of best assessment practice employed by teachers around the world this volume brings together both theoretical and empirical research that underpins assessment and perceptions of different stakeholders understanding of assessment in experiential learning from students teachers and policymakers The idea of assessment literacy also plays an important role in experiential learning for example reflection is often used in assessing students in experiential learning but how reflection literate are educators are they aware of the ethical dilemmas that arise in assessing students These questions are discussed in detail The volume also introduces a quality assurance programme to recognise student development within experiential learning programmes The book will be particularly informative to academic developers teachers students and community partners who struggle with the development and assessment for experiential learning those who plan to apply for funding in experiential learning and policymakers and senior managements seeking evidence and advice on fine tuning curricular assessment designs and quality assurance The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license
