Re-thinking Postcolonial Education in Sub-Saharan Africa in the 21st Century Edward Shizha, Ngoni Makuvaza, 2017-04-17 What have postcolonial Sub Saharan African countries achieved in their education policies and programmes How far have they contributed to successful attainment of the targeted 2015 Millennium Development Goals MDGs on education What were the constraints and barriers for developing an education system that appeals to the needs of the sub region Re thinking Postcolonial Education in Sub Saharan Africa in the 21st Century Post Millennium Development Goals is an attempt to demonstrate that Sub Saharan Africa has the potential and capability to provide solutions to challenges facing its desire and ability to provide sustainable education to its people To that end the contributors are academics with an African vision attempting to come up with African home grown perspectives to fill the gap created by the lapse of the MDGs as the guiding vision and framework for educational provision in Africa and beyond The book seeks to articulate and address African issues from an informed as well as objective African perspective The book is also intended to provide insights to scholars who are interested in studying and understanding the nature of postcolonial education in the Sub

Saharan African region Given the objectives and themes of this book it is intended for academic scholars undergraduate and graduate students human rights scholars curriculum developers college and university academics teachers education policy makers international organisations and local and international non governmental organisations that are interested in African education policies and programmes Rethinking Postcolonial Education in Sub Saharan Africa in the 21st Century provides contemporary reflections from multiple perspectives and re positions the issue of education at the forefront of the debates on African development Lamine Diallo Associate Professor Wilfrid Laurier University Canada The book is a welcome addition to discourses and analyses on education in sub Saharan Africa with reference to a postcolonial critique and the Millennium Development Goals framework on education in Africa Michael Tonderai Kariwo PhD Instructor and Research Fellow University of Alberta Canada

Rethinking Leadership for a Green World Andrew Taylor, 2022-03-20 First James Lovelock and recently Prince William and David Attenborough believe that we have reached a tipping point in the process of climate change Whether they are right or not it is certainly true that the impact of humankind upon the ecology of the earth has reached a point where real changes in human behaviour are required If managers are to be enablers of planetary survival then we need to develop a new approach to risk which explicitly includes ecological limits upon economic behaviour This implies a fundamental reorientation of their role in allocating resources to minimise risk and maximise reward This book brings together some of the brightest contemporary thinkers on leadership complexity and sustainability to consider the big ideas that we will need to make the changes required and to outline the major themes that can inform a new approach to constructing a green world It looks at how to ensure that local models of sustainability are able to flourish in the context of global networks and presents specific case studies of markets and organisations that offer insights into the development integrated solutions and the leadership lessons we can learn Combining both theory and practice this book serves to guide business managers and provides deeper insight and critical perspectives on some of the key issues facing leaders moving towards the green economy It also provides useful supplementary reading for students in business and environmental studies

Rethinking Marketing Philip Kotler, 2012-12-11 This book offers a fresh perspective on understanding how successful business strategies are crafted It provides insights into the challenges and opportunities present in changing Asian business environments Concepts are presented through models and frameworks These are illustrated through case studies showcasing a broad spectrum of Asian businesses ranging from manufacturing to logistics planning to retailing and services Readers will be able to understand the problems faced by Asian companies and to apply useful conceptual tools to formulate effective strategies in solving them

New Business Models in the Course of Global Crises in South Asia Amina Omrane, Sudin Bag, 2021-10-19 To survive and sustain businesses during such times of crisis becomes difficult for managers and entrepreneurs This in turn amplifies the importance of designing new flexible and adaptive business models This book addresses different business situations that occur during national and global crises such as the COVID 19 pandemic

Specifically it proposes new and inspiring business models for various industries such as service and retail industry using different statistical software like SPSS and AMOS It discusses the various changing elements of businesses such as the application of artificial intelligence AI and machine learning and how to cope with these unexpected business elements to maintain sustainable development ICIE 2014 Proceedings of the 2nd International Conference on Innovation and Entrepreneurship Academic Conferences and Publishing Limited,2014-06-02 Time To Rethink Risk Management: Surviving Future Global Crises Tony Bendell,2023-03-10 The purpose of this book is to change thinking about crises and risk Risk management is today both a great success an impressive achievement and a notable failure It works and it doesn't work It saves lives and property and it fails to save lives and property It helps and it hinders Like all such management approaches this has a lot to do with how it is employed and practiced but in the case of risk management there is also a much more fundamental issue The risk management framework the risk management model is wrong Many organisations today treat all risks as point events when the real risks involve systemic threats inherent in the global economy and the uncertain nature of global society The book argues that risk management has come a long way but that evidence of its more recent failure is now all around us and that it needs to now change dramatically if it is to accommodate current realities Whilst there is a clear need for us all to manage risk through a crisis there is a lack of understanding of the nature of crises that is impeding progress As well as providing a conceptual basis for changing the way risk management is undertaken the book provides a blueprint for managing at organisational level through a global crisis and to a more limited extent at government and other levels how to prepare what to do when it's happening and how and when to emerge into the post crisis world

Innovative Business Education Design for 21st Century Learning Peter Daly,Kristen Reid,Patrick Buckley,Elaine Doyle,2016-07-14 This volume explores two aspects of change within higher education macro factors governing and influencing the institutional environment and micro issues taking place within the institutions themselves The first part of the book examines some of the micro issues that influence business and economics pedagogy It presents reflections and analyses of teaching roles and values the enhancement of the student learning experience with technology and real world experiences and what students want and need to learn The second part of the book looks at the wider institutional environment of change the shifts in values new stakeholders and a change of focus toward developing skills students need to succeed in business The book highlights the inter related nature of these changes and shows that both aspects are important in motivating and inspiring students to be able participants in a 21st century global society Its focus on interdisciplinarity curriculum structures and changing stakeholders helps to analyse the roles and models of business and economics education in addressing the needs of today's global environment Rethinking EMI Lily I-Wen Su,Hintat Cheung,Jessica R. W. Wu,2021-06-10 Due to the competitive edge it confers on students educational institutions and non English speaking nations in a globalized economy English as a medium of instruction EMI has been gaining popularity in tertiary education in non native English speaking NNES countries Institute wide EMI implementation has often been imposed by top down decisions in combination with the optimistic view that the horse should always be placed before the cart However emerging evidence suggests that the delivery of such programs to NNES students has led to new pedagogical challenges and learning problems that go beyond the scope of language learning and teaching and deserve immediate attention For example how would an instructor respond to situations in which students learning of content is compromised by their limited language proficiency This book draws on the current practice of EMI in diverse disciplines and university settings and examines how these new pedagogical and learning issues can be addressed The discussion also involves a reflection on the essence of EMI in relation to the use of the first language L1 as the medium of instruction in tertiary education In addition the book includes discussion about how to ensure and maintain the quality of EMI programs and assess the readiness of stakeholders for such programs which include administrators teachers and students The discussion is led by exemplars in Hong Kong and Taiwan where the majority of students are native Chinese speakers in the hope of developing critical perspectives and practical guidelines as references for EMI in other NNES settings The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com/books/e> ISBN has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license

Rethinking Teacher Professional Development Donald Freeman, 2023-07-18 This book presents a new set of ideas to challenge established thinking and to guide researching and designing teacher professional development Grounded in the work of the Learning4Teaching Project which documented public sector teachers experiences and learning from professional development in three countries the volume presents a sociomaterial perspective on teacher sensemaking This teacher centered perspective disputes the conventional calculus in which teachers learn content that they apply in their classrooms Part I outlines conventional issues in how teacher learning and professional development have been conceptualized and studied Part II introduces a new group of concepts that rethink these assumptions and Part III offers important insights to inform professional development across disciplines cultures and contexts Written by a leading international teacher educator in an accessible style that incorporates visual representations and project data the book will appeal to practitioners scholars and researchers who design and research how teachers learn in professional development
