Information Ecology Mastering The Information And Knowledge Environment:

Information Ecology Thomas H. Davenport, Laurence Prusak, 1997 Information technology spending in the US over the last decade is estimated at 3 trillion dollars yet by many accounts has not worked In this text the author proposes a way of looking at information management which takes into account the total information environment within an organization

ECKM2014-Proceedings of the 15th European conference on Knowledge Management Carla Vivas, 2014-10-01 The world economy in which we are living poses challenges that lead to a realization that more of the same will be difficult to sustain This provides an illustration that in order to create new or modified knowledge practices strengthen customer relationships and thus positively influence customer satisfaction organizations must be flexible in configuring combining knowledge and knowledge structures in a way that is appropriate for delivering value to the customer It must simultaneously develop effective strategies for updating the knowledge of its staff members necessary for underpinning the creation and delivery of appropriate knowledge services Thus unlearning forgetting becomes a critical means for organizational success The ECKM community of scholars has already initiated dialogue that links its particular strengths to innovation issues This conference aims to further that dialogue by attracting leading edge work that leverages the ECKM community's in depth understanding of learning and unlearning to better understand knowledge management Our aim is to stimulate breakthrough research streams linking learning unlearning and knowledge management How can organizations tailor use and extend techniques and tools from knowledge management for improving their business practices and processes Building upon existing work on knowledge management KM and organizational learning the conference will promote interdisciplinary approaches from computer science and information systems business management and organization science as well as cognitive science Emphasis will be put on systematic learning from experience KM tools and KM success factors A special interest belongs to knowledge management initiatives which are lightweight i e do not place considerable additional burden on users and KM experts allow an incremental adoption i e do not require large up front investment before any return of investment is at least visible and are flexible regarding frequent changes in experts and topics Continuing the success of the ECKM conference series since 2000 the 2015 conference will provide an international communication forum bringing together academia and industry for discussing the progress made and addressing the challenges faced by continuous learning in knowledge intensive organizations

Big Data Processing Using Spark in Cloud Mamta Mittal, Valentina E. Balas, Lalit Mohan Goyal, Raghvendra Kumar, 2018-06-16 The book describes the emergence of big data technologies and the role of Spark in the entire big data stack It compares Spark and Hadoop and identifies the shortcomings of Hadoop that have been overcome by Spark The book mainly focuses on the in depth architecture of Spark and our understanding of Spark RDDs and how RDD complements big data's immutable nature and solves it with lazy evaluation cacheable and type inference It also addresses advanced topics in Spark starting with the basics of Scala and the core Spark framework and exploring Spark data frames machine learning using Mlib graph analytics using Graph X and real time processing with Apache Kafka AWS Kinesis and Azure Event Hub It then goes on to investigate Spark using PySpark and R Focusing on the current big data stack the book examines the interaction with current big data tools with Spark being the core processing layer for all types of data The book is intended for data engineers and scientists working on massive datasets and big data technologies in the cloud In addition to industry professionals it is helpful for aspiring data processing professionals and students working in big data processing and cloud computing environments

Meijer, F. Bannister, M. Thaens, 2013-06-20 The physicist Neils Bohr allegedly wrote that Prediction is very difficult especially about the future Many academics believe that serious scholars should never attempt to write about the future but some awareness of the ways in which the future of e government may evolve is needed if well grounded long term decisions about issues such as infrastructures institutions and educational programs are to be made In addition future oriented research is of the utmost importance for informed public debate about technological developments with far reaching societal implications This book marks the 25th anniversary of the permanent study group on e government of the European Group for Public Administration and the papers here were first presented at their 2012 meeting in Bucharest Romania The invited authors were not asked for rigorous analyses based on systematic empirical research or deeply rooted in a theoretical framework instead they were challenged to write thoughtful and measured but provocative essays about ICT and public administration in the coming decade Their contributions are reflections on the nature of new and emerging technologies in the public sector and their impact on government and on democracy itself The book is divided into three sections the past and present as starting point for thinking about the future of e government imagining the future of government and implications for research and practice The many questions raised by developments in ICT for future public administration are presented in a clear and thought provoking manner and merit more debate This volume represents a departure from the normal run of academic publications It is intended both to provoke academics and administrators to think about questions which will affect all of our futures and to offer a range of creative ideas about how the opportunities presented by technology can be exploited to provide better government and governance
