Research Methods for Massage and Holistic Therapies

Glenn Hymel, 2005-09-23 This comprehensive resource covers a broad array of research strategies available to massage therapists to give them the tools they need to be knowledgeable readers of research literature as well as active researchers The primary focus of the book is on the quantitative aspect of research that encompasses the principal types of studies most extensively used in the various health care professions specifically massage therapy Extensive coverage is also given to the qualitative and integrative research categories that are progressively gaining recognition among researchers in various health science disciplines and professions Accommodates the March 2003 mandate from the Commission on Massage Therapy Accreditation COMTA that massage therapy schools incorporate into their curricula provisions to ensure a research literate profession Examples and techniques for interpreting research guide practitioners and students to be knowledgeable readers of massage therapy research allowing application to practice Relies heavily on concept maps flowcharts tables and illustrations and excerpts of published studies to augment the book's narrative development of topics by providing pictorial displays and summaries of the material. Literature-based and hypothetical research examples, illustrations from several manual therapy professions employing therapeutic massage, make the material pertinent to real-life settings. An introductory section at the beginning of each chapter reviews the material covered in the previous chapter and how it relates to the new material. Chapter coverage spans the quantitative, qualitative, and integrative research categories, and affiliated research strategies and methods are considered in detail. Review summary tables give an overview of the narrative development of topics. Boxes provide the essential features of a given topic. Relies on multiple examples of possible research scenarios and illustrative excerpts from the published research literature. Content is cross-referenced for use with the Massage Therapy Foundation's Massage Therapy Research Curriculum Kit to provide both instructors and students in the 6-15 and 24-hour options levels an extensively developed resource in one place. Each chapter includes recommended web sites and software application packages for further information.

Surviving Your Dissertation Kjell Erik Rudestam, Rae R. Newton, 2014-05-28 In the fully updated Fourth Edition of their best-selling guide Surviving Your Dissertation, Kjell Erik Rudestam and Rae R. Newton answer questions concerning every stage of the dissertation process, including selecting a suitable topic, conducting a literature review, developing a research question, understanding the role of theory, selecting an appropriate methodology and research design, analyzing data, and interpreting and presenting results. In addition, this must-have guide covers topics that other dissertation guides often miss, such as the many types of quantitative and qualitative research models available, the principles of good scholarly writing, how to work with committees, how to meet IRB and ethical standards, and how to overcome task and emotional blocks. With plenty of current examples, the new edition features an expanded discussion of online research data collection and analysis and the use of data archives, as well as expanded coverage of qualitative methods and added information on mixed methods.

How to Write a Master's Thesis Yvonne N. Bui, 2009-04-22 How to Write a Master's Thesis is a comprehensive manual on how to conceptualize and write a five-chapter master's thesis, including the introduction, literature review, methodology, results, and discussion/conclusion. Very often, a theory-practice gap exists for students who have taken the prerequisite methods and statistics courses in their master's program but who have yet to understand how to apply and translate what they've learned about the research process with their first major project. Yvonna Bui demystifies this process by integrating the language learned in these prerequisite courses into a step-by-step guide for developing one's own thesis project.
